

U.N. May Take Larger Role In Southeast Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are reported seriously considering the possibility of the United Nations undertaking a larger role in war-torn Southeast Asia than has so far been suggested.

This is one of the lines of action expected to be discussed when American policy-makers meet in Honolulu Monday and Tuesday to work out recommendations for President Johnson.

After studying the recommendations, Johnson may make some initial decisions on the U.S. course of action.

With the Communist offensive in Laos apparently slowed down, the air of urgency over the Southeast Asian situation has eased.

Talks Secret

The Honolulu conference will take a long-range look at the problems of trying to secure peace and stability in Laos, Viet Nam and Cambodia, as well as discuss the immediate problems arising out of the Communist offensives.

Expanded military action by the United States is another of the possible courses to be considered. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in a speech a week ago that, if Communist aggression continued, the result could be "to expand the war."

Johnson announced the Honolulu meeting Thursday, saying the purpose of the Cabinet-level talks would be "to review the situation in the entire area" of Southeast Asia.

Officials said the talks would be secret, and that recommendations would be reported only to the President.

Rusk On Tour

Secretary Rusk, after attending Prime Minister Nehru's funeral in India, is scheduled to visit Bangkok, Thailand, and Saigon, South Viet Nam, this weekend on his way to Honolulu.

Others who will participate in the conference will be Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. envoy in South Viet Nam; Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, and John A. McCona, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

It is also understood that Assistant Secretary of State Harlan Cleveland, director of the Bureau of International Organization Affairs and an expert on U.N. activities, also is expected to take part.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson proposed in the U.N. Security Council last week that the United Nations might help in the Southeast Asian situation in one limited respect—to patrol the 600-mile Cambodian-South Vietnamese frontier to prevent further border incidents.

Cambodia had complained of South Vietnamese military actions violating its boundary.

Washington authorities are not certain what role the United Nations might play in Southeast Asia and no concrete proposals have taken shape.

One implication is that if the United States is prepared to support the use of U.N. patrols on the Cambodian-Vietnamese border, it might also favor the introduction of U.N. peace-keeping units elsewhere in the area.

Action Started To Halt Vicious Hillsdale Strike

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP)—While National Guardsmen patrolled a factory where a strike had exploded into a near-riot, negotiators began talks today that Michigan's governor said would continue "until they produce results."

Two persons stood charged with assault to commit murder in the shotgun wounding of a plant guard and one plant guard was accused of unlawful discharge of a firearm.

Agreement to resume previously sporadic negotiations in the 3-month-old strike at Essex Wire Corp. came Thursday night after a five-hour series of meetings in Gov. George W. Romney's office at Lansing.

"The meetings will be held for a reasonable period each day until they produce results," the governor said. "They have agreed to stick to it for the purpose of working out a contract."

Romney sent the National Guard to Hillsdale. He declared a "state of public emergency" and ordered the Essex plant shut down and its guards disarmed after a near-riot Wednesday night.

More than 250 persons besieged the Hillsdale County Jail and smashed its windows with rocks after police arrested three persons at the picket line at the plant.

Three were charged with malicious destruction of property and two others were held in protective custody until a formal charge was filed Thursday.

It was the latest violent incident in a series which began when the International Union of Electrical Workers called 180 members out of the Essex plant Feb. 28 demanding a contract.

Plant guard Louis Scott, 27, of Detroit, was shot and wounded Tuesday night and another guard was clubbed with a baseball bat while escorting imported non-union workers with which Essex has been operating.

Appellate Court Measure Given Prompt Effect

LANSING (AP) — A bill establishing three, three-judge appellate court districts in Michigan received immediate effect in the House Thursday.

The bill — implementing a provision of the new Michigan Constitution—follows a directive handed the legislature in a unique letter from the Michigan Supreme Court early this year.

It makes Wayne County a separate district, establishes a second district of 16 counties surrounding Detroit, and sets up a mammoth third district stretching from the Indiana border to Lake Superior — taking in the remaining 66 counties.

Lawmakers first tried to set up nine one-judge districts, but the high court let them know it intended to take pressure off the Supreme Court resulting from a provision in the constitution to allow appeals in criminal cases as a matter of right — rather than by the leave of the high court.

Johnson Flies To Texas And His Old School

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson made a memory-filled journey today to Texas—and his high school of 40 years ago—after exhorting New York Democrats to work for a "great victory" in November.

Johnson flew here from New York in the early morning hours.

He had only two appearances on his schedule for a ranch weekend—one tonight to address the graduating class of Johnson City's Lyndon B. Johnson High School, where he was graduated in 1924, and the other to speak to University of Texas graduates in Austin Saturday night.

The President made his November victory appeal during a circuit of Democratic fund-raising functions in New York Thursday night. The finale brought 17,000 persons to Madison Square Garden for a two-hour program of entertainment and a Johnson speech.

Appearing at a $100-a-plate dinner of Young Democrats, Johnson said: "Start working tonight for a great victory for the Democratic party next November. And now give us your hand and your heart and your help."

Using phrases reminiscent both of Dwight D. Eisenhower and John F. Kennedy, Johnson spoke of crusades and new frontiers.

The chief executive said that Democrats regard "politics and government as a crusade—not a chore." And he added, "I've come up here tonight to ask you to join that crusade."

Two Themes Borrowed
It was Republican Eisenhower who talked repeatedly of a "Great Crusade" when he first won the presidency in 1952.

Johnson plucked a Kennedy-esque chord after saying that Democrats must look beyond pending civil rights and anti-poverty legislation and, in the future, "offer new programs to solve new problems."

"This is why," he said, "the Democratic party is the place to be—the excitement is here—the satisfaction is here—the frontiers are here."

It was Kennedy who talked of "New Frontiers" in the 1960 presidential race.

Panama Ballot Fraud Charged

PANAMA (AP)—The national election board has officially proclaimed Marco A. Robles victor in the May 10 presidential election, but opponents renewed their protests of election fraud. The final tabulation Thursday gave Robles 130,154 votes to 119,786 for Arnulfo Arias, leader of the Panamanista party. The official count approximately matched a preliminary tabulation announced three days after the election.

Aid To Schools Up 14.8 Million

LANSING (AP) — An increase of $14.8 million in state school aid—including $2.50 per pupil, across - the - board for every district — was approved Thursday by the legislature.

Carried right down to the wire after being stymied in a conference committee for several weeks, the bill passed on a House-Senate compromise on the across-the-board figure.

As approved, the bill carries Gov. George W. Romney's proposal for an increase of $10 per pupil, from $224 to $234, with an increase in the deductible millage factor from 3% to 4 1/4 mills.

Local Burdens Eased

The millage factor is used in figuring how much support a district must provide for its schools from local taxes.

The $10 per pupil increase will cost the state an estimated $10 million.

The revision was intended to ease the burden imposed on local taxes in districts of low assessed valuation.

The dispute had developed a senate amendment adding 3 per pupil for all districts, regardless of their valuation, to the bill.

Not subject to the millage factor, the $3 increase would have cost the state an estimated $5.7 million.

House members balked at this across-the-board increase, contending it did nothing except commit the state to spending more money for school aid, without relieving pressure on local property taxes. Some wanted the $3 removed, others urged that it be made subject to the millage factor to benefit the low valuation districts.

In the windup Thursday, however, House and Senate agreed to a compromise of the across-

Means $10,000

The new compromise state aid bill with its $2.50 per pupil increase will benefit the Escanaba Area Public Schools by approximately $10,000 more than had been anticipated, said Supt. Walter Bright.

The school district will enter deficit spending in the coming school year to finance salary and other operating cost increases.

The British reply by all accounts was discouraging. The Inter-Allied Coordinating Committee, which controls export of strategic material to Communist lands, embargoed such equipment in 1962.

Apparently a Romanian delegation to the United States led by Deputy Premier Gheorghe Gaston-Marin also raised the question with American authorities.

Evidently the Americans, like the British, restrained themselves from giving an unequivocal no. The whole issue appears to have been left open for decision at White House level.

The original bill was a terrific improvement in school aid but by this across-the-board increase we lose some of the advantage we'd have gained in helping poorer districts."

Stephenson Has Rabies Deaths Of Two Holsteins

The Division of Laboratories, Michigan Department of Health at the local office of the Michigan Department of Agriculture and Delta-Menominee Health Department confirmed today that two Holstein animals which died on a farm just west of Stephenson recently were the victims of rabies.

This is the first outbreak of rabies in cattle in the Upper Peninsula in more than 15 years.

The animals, one a yearling and one an older milk cow, were first observed by Dr. Hilding Linderoth, veterinary practitioner of Stephenson about 10 days ago. The animals exhibited encephalitic (nervous) symptoms of a puzzling nature. Treatment was attempted but was unsuccessful in relieving clinical symptoms. On the night of May 21 the younger animal died.

The following morning Dr. Leonard T. Vader, of Escanaba, veterinary pathologist of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, was called by Dr. Linderoth for consultation. After examining the other sick animal, surveying the premises and questioning the owner, a tentative diagnosis of rabies was made by the two veterinarians. The head of the dead animal was removed and prepared for shipment by North Central Airlines to the Division of Laboratories, Michigan Department of Health, Lansing, for laboratory examination and animal inoculation.

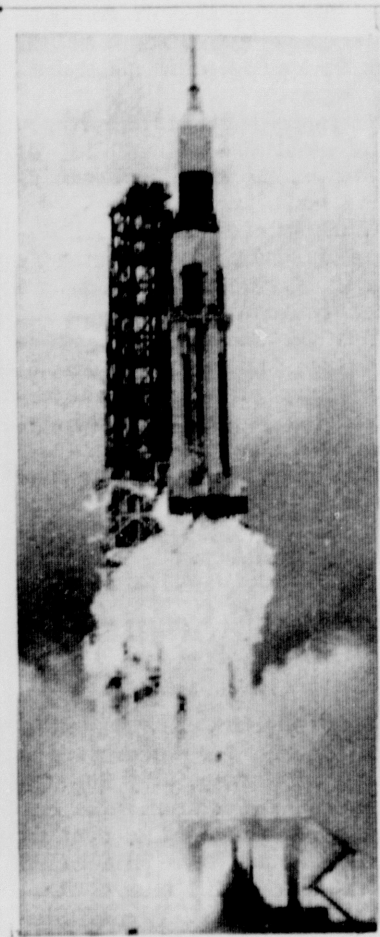

Second Animal Dies

On Saturday morning another visit was made to the farm. The second animal had died during the night. The head of this animal was also sent by air to Lansing for laboratory confirmation. Dr. Don Cochon of the Michigan Department of Health told Dr. Vader on Tuesday that no negri bodies had been found (negri bodies found in a specific part of the brain are diagnostic of rabies). The fluorescein antibody stain (another laboratory test for rabies) had been completed on the first head and was negative. The fluorescein antibody stain on the second head was completed Wednesday, May 27, and was positive.

The two animals, which were mother and daughter, were housed on opposite ends of the barn and had not been outside of the barn since last fall. Inquiry revealed that a skunk had been seen one morning recently in bright sunlight 50

AN UNMANNED model of the Apollo moonship, shown being lofted at the Cape Kennedy, Fla., launching pad, is now in successful orbit around the earth. The moonship was shot into space by a Saturn I rocket. (NASA photo via AP Wirephoto)

Lunar Landing Target Date Set For 1969

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The first unmanned model of the Apollo moonship orbited the earth today, buoying U.S. hopes of manned lunar landings in the 1960s.

Dr. George Mueller, director of the nation's manned space-flight program, said the success "adds to our confidence in meeting our goal of landing men on the moon in this decade."

But he said many more launchings — in the Gemini, Apollo and several unmanned programs — are required before man sets forth on a lunar voyage.

No Recovery Planned

A Saturn I rocket, which the United States claims is the most powerful in the world, hoisted the spacecraft into orbit more than 100 miles high Thursday. Both rocket and spacecraft launched were "Model T" versions of the more powerful, streamlined hardware to be used on the moon flights.

The spacecraft weighed only 17,000 pounds, carried no internal gear and did not separate from the burned out second stage. It was the same shape as the real thing — which will weigh 90,000 pounds — and proved that in combination with the Saturn I it could withstand the jolting climb through the atmosphere. No recovery of the satellite was planned.

The Saturn I logged its sixth successful test flight in as many launchings. Saturn I, with 1.5 million pounds of booster thrust, is forerunner of the massive 7.5-million pound thrust Saturn V, which will launch moonbound astronauts.

Another In August

Dr. Werner Von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center which builds Saturn rockets, said the next Saturn I firing, scheduled in August, will be essentially a repeat of Thursday's effort to evaluate systems. An unmanned Gemini capsule to be launched in August in the final tuneup for the first two-man Gemini flight late in the year of only three orbits lasting five hours to check systems. Starting in 1965, manned flights will increase to four days, seven days and 14 days.

Late next year, test flights of an advanced Saturn IB rocket are to begin. The vehicle has essentially the same first stage as Saturn I but its second stage has much greater power.

Test launchings of the Saturn V are to start in 1967. Because of the rocket's great cost, the first astronauts to ride the mammoth vehicle most likely will be en route to the moon. Target date is 1969.

Lesinski Gives His Swan Song

LANSING (AP) — Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, in a sentimental swan song Thursday night, told the Senate he would not run for re-nomination as lieutenant governor and later added he has not yet discounted the idea of seeking the Democratic nomination for governor.

Lesinski, who estimated he has broken at least 10 gavel during his four years as presiding officer of the Senate, was presented his last gavel as a going-away present.

The shrewd, rotund, cigar-chomping Lesinski has been one of the most colorful figures in the Capitol in recent years.

Lesinski announced at the windup of the Senate session Thursday night, "This is my swan song. I am bringing to a close 10 years in the House and four in the Senate as presiding officer."

Lesinski said later he has not yet given up the notion of possibly trying out as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor. U.S. Rep. Neil Staebler, of Ann Arbor, is so far the only announced Democratic candidate.

Lesinski said he would announce his decision on his governorship intentions next week. Meanwhile, he said, he intends to either return to private law practice in Detroit or seek a Detroit judgeship.

Legislators Go Home; Special Session Hinted

LANSING (AP) — The legislature completed its work today — and state Democrats said they were just starting theirs — amid hints that Gov. George W. Romney might call lawmakers back for a special session.

In three moves Thursday, Romney and lawmakers cleared up the confusion shrouding the state's 1964 elections and paved the way for rapid adjournment of the session.

Lawmakers were scheduled to adjourn at noon today. But even before they had a chance to pack their bags, rumors circulated of a special session to deal with another election problem—the inclusion of county and township officers in the fall voting and the long, unwieldy ballot that could result.

The first move Thursday was Romney's. He signed the so-called "Massachusetts ballot" bill, assuring Democrats of enough time to complete a petition drive to place the issue before the people in November.

Ferency Opens Fire

The effect of putting the matter to a vote would be to block its use in November. The bill eliminates straight-party voting.

It could hurt Democratic chances, since the party relies more heavily on straight-party voting than do the Republicans.

Immediately after Romney signed the Massachusetts ballot bill, State Democratic Chairman Zolton Ferency opened fire. Said Ferency:

"George Romney has taken from the voters of Michigan a choice which is rightfully theirs."

Romney defended the bill, saying it makes "voting more meaningful (and) produces a more accurate expression of voter opinion, and will increase voter control of their government."

Once Romney signed the bill, Democrats held to earlier promises of immediate effect for a primary election bill, which apparently would have allowed two primaries, one on Aug. 4 and one on Sept. 1.

With immediate effect, it can become law before the scheduled August election and substitute for it the September date.

Rep. Russell St. Je, R-Clare, chairman of the House Elections Committee, said a special session will be necessary to clear up the county and township officers question.

Judy Recovers But Her Illness Remains Mystery

HONG KONG (AP) — Judy Garland was taken off the critical list at a Hong Kong hospital today, but the nature of the illness that put her in a coma for more than 12 hours remained a mystery.

"She looks very much better now," said American actor Mark Herron, her traveling companion. He added that she was now able to talk.

The singer collapsed Thursday at her hotel and Herron rushed her to the hospital in a taxi while Typhoon Viola was hitting the island city. She was given oxygen and other emergency treatment.

Herron said Miss Garland, 41, was suffering from "over-exhaustion." Earlier one nurse said she had a heart attack while another in the same ward described the illness as "poisoning."

Herron denied rumors that Miss Garland had taken an overdose of sleeping pills accidentally.

Miss Garland's sister, Sue Gumm Cathcart, 48, died in Las Vegas, Nev., Tuesday night, but Herron said Judy had not been told.

Contact Lenses Safe, Health Department Says

Recent magazine articles questioning the safety of contact lenses have brought requests for information directed to the Health Department. No reports of any eye disease or damage have been brought to the attention of the Health Department, said Dr. Mary L. Creten, director.

Michigan is included in the 45 states where only optometrists and physicians are licensed to fit contact lenses to the human eye. All of the persons who fit contact lenses in Michigan are especially trained in this type of correctional lens fitting. In the magazine articles, a material in the contact lens was implicated as causing trouble in some instances, but this was later disproved.

Lenses that are properly fitted, properly applied, and worn for a limited time as prescribed by the physician or optometrist have been judged safe by the specialists in the field. Presently there are about five million contact lens wearers in the United States.

Junior Readers To Get Stamps

The boys and girls of Escanaba are running to the Escanaba Public Library to get trading stamps. Mr. Booky trading stamps are being given away for books read in the Mr. Booky Summer Reading Club.

This summer reading program, the first in many years, will run from June 15 through July 18. It is open to all boys and girls in the first eight grades of school.

Upon signing an application at the library, the child will be given a Mr. Booky Card. For each book he reads during the five weeks of the program, he will be given three Mr. Booky trading stamps. When 10 books have been read the card will be filled and another can be obtained if desired.

One filled card entitles the child to receive a certificate of achievement and also entitles him to attend a party for participants in the program on the library grounds Monday afternoon July 20. Games with prizes and refreshments will be provided plus awards will be made. Prizes for the greatest number of books read will be given in three groups.

J. F. Kennedy Birthday Today

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—John Fitzgerald Kennedy would have been 47 years old today.

The birthday, in all likelihood, would have been celebrated with a family gathering at the Kennedy compound of summer homes at Hyannis Port, the place the late president called "home."

As president, he took an extended Memorial Day weekend away from the White House to begin his summer round of visits to the seashore.

There'd always be a party for the children—there are more than 20 Kennedy small fry—and customarily they had presents for "Uncle Jack." Sometimes there were small presents for the children, too.

With that over, the adult Kennedys would gather for dinner and a quiet observance of the birthday.

Program On TV
One year, the Massachusetts Democratic party set up a fund-raising birthday dinner and Kennedy made an evening round-trip flight to Boston to attend it.

This holiday weekend, there will be no gathering of the clan at the seaside compound.

Six months and one week ago, an assassin's bullet killed Kennedy.

But the President's widow, Mrs. John F. Kennedy, and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F.

Kennedy, flew to Hyannis Port to take part in an international television program on John F. Kennedy's spiritual legacy to the world.

The President's other brother, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., will join Irish Prime Minister Sean Lemass for part of the program to be relayed by Telstar II from Dublin.

Other segments beamed by Telstar bring in former British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, from England, and West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt of Germany.

Part of the program will be devoted to the Kennedy Memorial Library, for which $10 million is being raised. The library is to be built near Harvard University.

Old Photos Shown
Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, the late president's mother, appeared Thursday night on CBS television to comment on pictures of her son and others of her family. CBS commentator Harry Reasoner said the pictures never had been shown publicly before.

The Post Office Department marked the birthday with the first issue of John F. Kennedy memorial stamps.

Stamp dealers and collectors converged in Boston, where the Boston Post Office will postmark the five-cent stamps "first day of issue."

The stamp bears a portrait of Kennedy and a reproduction of the eternal flame that burns at his grave.

In Washington, President Johnson paid tribute to his predecessor with a memorial service Thursday.

Then the President and Mrs. Johnson drove to Arlington Cemetery and placed a wreath of Red, white and blue flowers on Kennedy's grave.

More than 40 top government officials, White House aides and Democratic committee officers who served under Kennedy attended the 10-minute service in the state dining room of the White House.

"He was," said Johnson, "in the words of the Bible one of those that were honored in their generations, and were the glory of their times."

Officer Regains Lost Revolver; Gets $24 Back

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit policeman Isaac Corp, now retired, lost his service revolver on April 26, 1923, and the police department charged him $24 to replace it.

The department says it will be glad to refund his money now.

The gun turned up Wednesday night in a mailbox in suburban St. Clair Shores. Police said it was in perfect condition.

Lakes Levels Up 4 Inches

DETROIT (AP)—The level of the Great Lakes has climbed an average of four inches during May, but Lakes Michigan and Huron still are two inches below the previous all-time low for this date, the U. S. Lake Survey reported today.

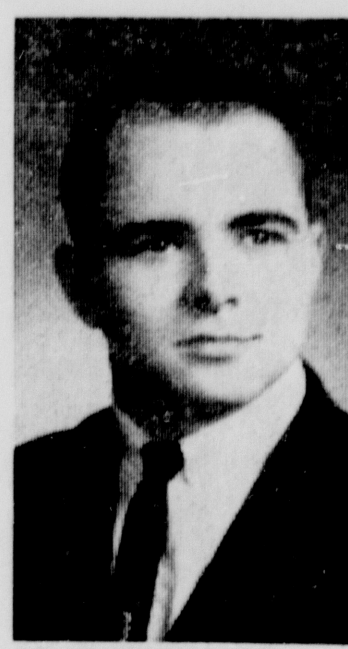

The survey predicted the lakes would rise another two inches on the average during June, although Lake Erie would drop one inch.

Lake Superior is up 7 inches from last month, Lakes Michigan and Huron 4, Lakes St. Clair and Erie 1 and Lake Ontario 9.

Predicted rises for June are Lake Superior 3 inches, Lakes Michigan and Huron 2, Lake St. Clair 1 and Lake Ontario 4.

Compared with year-ago levels at this date, Lake Superior is up 3 inches, but Lakes Michigan and Huron are down 11, Lake St. Clair is down 7, Lake Erie is down 3 and Lake Ontario is down 16.

The arquebus, or harquebus, was the first hand gun.

MICHAEL B. QUINN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Quinn, 705 S. 10th St., Escanaba, will receive a bachelor of arts degree from Marquette University in Milwaukee on June 7. He is among 67 Michigan of the record senior class of 1,419 candidates for graduation. The commencement will be held in Milwaukee Arena Sunday afternoon. U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy will speak and receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Workers Get Penny Raise

DETROIT (AP)—Nearly a million hourly-paid workers in auto factories and supplier plants will get a penny-an-hour wage increase in June on the basis of increased cost of living figures announced Thursday by the Labor Department.

The increase will bring to 14 cents the total cost-of-living allowances under present contracts between the United Auto Workers Union and the auto industry. The contracts gear wages to the rise and fall in living costs.

An estimated 250,000 salaried workers at the auto companies will receive upwards adjustments of $5 or more in their quarterly allowances for living costs.

The Detroit consumer price index, on which the auto contracts are figured, rose 0.2 per cent in April to 108. That meant it took $10.80 to purchase items that cost $10 in the 1957-59 period, base years for the automotive index.

Memorial Day

This year's high school graduates won't have the memories of Memorial Day that their parents do, especially the older parents. When they were children, Memorial Day's highlight was a march by the "Boys in Blue," the survivors of the Grand Army of the Republic which fought for the North in the Civil War. (They called it the Civil War, at least in the North, in those days; there wasn't nearly so much mention of "The War Between the States" as we hear today.)

The Grand Army of the Republic was the name of the organization of Northern veterans formed after the war and it was usually referred to as the GAR. The army was not called that during the war, like Napoleon Bonaparte's Grand Armee. The GAR was organized in Decatur, Ill., on Apr. 6, 1866 as a society of men who had fought on the side of the North and it reached its greatest membership—some 409,000—in 1890.

It had local posts in all the major cities of the Upper Peninsula and they seem to have filled a role in the communities' social and military fraternity activities that the later veteran organizations have not quite duplicated, but this view may be flawed. The veterans of '65, for one thing, lived in such a different age than those of '18 that to expect them to behave the same and to have the same regard for their military service would be added. The Boys in Blue had fought against their own fellow Americans in the only civil war in this country and it was the first "modern" war and one of unmatched deadliness.

It was the Grand Army that was responsible for the first observance of Memorial Day in the Northern States and as long as the Civil War veterans were about they marched in the Memorial Day parade, or, at the last, rode in cars. Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was a very familiar part of the observance and many of the veterans had seen Lincoln, or tried so hard to recall having seen the Great Emancipator that they came to half-believe that they had.

Not many men from the Upper Peninsula went from it to military service in the Civil War. The reason was simple. In 1861 when the war started there were few communities of size in the Upper Peninsula except in the Copper Country and on the Marquette Iron Range and a few of the pioneer sawmill centers like Menominee and Escanaba where there was sawing of lumber from the 1830s.

Menominee's men went to neighboring Menekaune (Marinette) and Oconto to enlist for service and most of them served with the 1st Wisconsin or some other Wisconsin outfit. David Coon, Escanaba historian who has done considerable research on the subject, believes that probably not more than three or four men from Delta County went to the Civil War. But a large number of Civil War veterans settled in the county after the war. This was a commonplace situation in the Upper Peninsula and the Boys in Blue were in the front rank of the pioneers who cut the pine and cleared the farms of the Upper Peninsula.

They assembled in cities where there were GAR Posts on Memorial Day morning coming in by railroad from all the little communities of the counties. The march to the cemetery was the big event of the day. There was always a salute at the Soldier's Plot and a patriotic speech and the decoration of the graves.

In Menominee there was a Civil War cannon on the Soldier's Plot and when the wood artillery wheels finally deteriorated and there was no wheelwright around to renew them, the bronze cannon barrel was sold to a former mayor for the scrap value of the metal. So do old devotions expire when succeeding generations generate no feeling for the past.

The GAR veterans often wore a little sprig of cedar in their big badges, which had an eagle atop crossed cannons, then the ribbon of Old Glory and a five pointed bronze star bearing a picture of a soldier and sailor shaking hands in front of a figure of Liberty.

The veterans of '98, who had served in the Spanish American War took over the planning of Memorial Day ceremonies when the GAR expired and then after World War 1 the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans and other organizations came into being and enlarged the tradition of Memorial Day, which was conceived as an occasion to honor the North's war dead and which became a day to honor all the dead, but especially those who had served the nation in war.

'Only the Dead Have Seen the End of War'

—Douglas MacArthur, after Plato

Washington Comment

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, his huge delegation lead largely untouched by Gov. Nelson Rockefeller's Oregon primary victory gains materially in his presidential bid from the curious condition of the Republican party in 1964.

Already well recited is the headlessness of the potent moderate wing which still opposes him. Moderate leaders not only have no horse to ride. They have no moving spirit, no guiding hand. Each looks elsewhere for signs of motion—and sees no stirring.

All this obviously is immensely helpful to Goldwater as the only candidate with both chiefs and Indians in state after state. His organizations often triumph virtually by default.

Yet his advantages do not end with this. The Arizona senator is getting substantial aid from the fact that numerous GOP professionals are not functioning as party leaders normally do in nomination struggles.

The business of nomination politics is like no other. Its lifeblood is the interchange of ideas and information. The seasoned expert has his antennae tuned to pick up every useful fragment of fact and opinion.

But this reporter, in several periodic cross-country checks this year, has noted a marked insularity among many Republican leaders. They are not operating as alert listening posts.

Two western politicians conceded not long ago that they did not know the real size of Goldwater's vote in the April 14 Illinois primary. They had no idea how that vote compared with past primary votes there for Richard Nixon, Dwight Eisenhower or the late Robert A. Taft.

Few professionals reached in surveys had any notion what had gone on in recent important state conventions in Kansas and Iowa, where Goldwater and anti-Goldwater forces tangled bitterly.

A southern state chairman said in a telephone interview that his party people were all busily chewing over a national magazine's summary of Goldwater's delegate strength. Knowledgeable professionals in earlier years kept their own scorecards.

The big Goldwater delegate potential, which is now being converted to fact in many places, was visible in early January to anyone with a good political eye and a pencil.

It took many GOP leaders more than two months to wake up to what Barry was heading for. When they finally did in late March, a sizable number, including strong Goldwater adversaries, shrugged and said: "I guess the ball game is nearly over."

Their unawareness of some 1964 political events, not to mention the history of prior campaigns, makes many easy prey to barrages of propaganda. Some are "buying" lines without realizing it.

Even with a dozen or so "high total" Goldwater delegate counts now before them, few leaders seem to be probing the figures for new insights.

All note the disparity between his high total (around 520) and his low status (15 per cent) in nationwide popularity polls, plus his defeats in contested New Hampshire and Oregon primaries.

Hardly any leader bothers to note that two-thirds of Goldwater's presently projected delegate strength (not counting California's 86) comes from the 11-state Old South and the 8-state Mountain-Southwest. President Johnson is expected to be very tough in these areas this fall.

Nominating a president is for any party an enterprise in continuous communication among professionals. In 1964, communication among Republicans is not working well. Goldwater benefits thereby.

AREA PRIDE

I am writing in regard to the article in Monday's Press concerning the breaking and entering of the Hill-Top Drive In Theater last weekend by three youths.

In your article you state: "The area has been a trouble-one for law officers because of juvenile delinquency."

I must take offense to this statement and I shall try to explain why. Two of these minor boys are actually not from the Danforth area; one is from Escanaba and one moved to the area recently; the other boy is from the area but, to my knowledge, has never been in any kind of trouble before. You may wonder how I know who and what I am talking about because the names of the boys were not published, but when something like this happens the kids are the first to know who is involved and mine told me who they were supposed to be.

I want you to know, I am not condemning this act. I do, however, resent the fact that all the boys in the area should be called juvenile delinquents because of it, or even that these boys should be if it is a first offense. I also realize that the drive-in has been broken into in the past but I do not believe that Danforth youths were responsible. There are many groups of young boys and girls who walk or hitch-hike out from Escanaba and the surrounding area to sit outdoors and watch the movie.

I have lived in the area for 15 years and have never known about a delinquency problem. In fact, I have always been proud of the nice kids we have living out here and I say again, I resent having them called juvenile delinquents without just cause.

Mrs. Sam (Betty E.) Peterson (Editor's note: The Press said officers reported juvenile trouble in the area, not that the area's juveniles were involved.)

Dear Ann Landers: I am getting sick and tired of reading that same old worn-out phrase in your column — "When you marry a divorced man you marry the whole package—the ex-mate, the kids, the ex-in-laws, old friends, and so on." You gotta be crazy.

I married a divorced man and there's nothing in my marriage contract that says I have to be bothered with any of the aforementioned kooks. My husband's ex-wife is a religious fanatic who reads the Bible with one hand and drinks gin with the other. Her children are going to be just like her.

American courts seem to have the insane idea that children are better off with their mother, even if she is a nut, so I say let her paddle her own canoe. And why don't you talk about something else for a change?—OUTSPOKEN

Dear Out: It's easy to say "Let her paddle her own canoe" but that canoe has your husband's kids in it.

If this woman is as nutty as you say, and if your husband is halfway decent, he will keep in close touch with his children.

There is most any place where people would rather be than where they are.

Don't believe all you hear unless it's a police car siren or a railroad train toot.

Ann Landers

Taking A Bath Is No Disgrace

Dear Ann Landers: Our 15-year-old daughter is upstairs crying her eyes out. I told her I didn't want to hear any more about it and that I was writing to you. This is what happened:

Marietta's boy friend called her on the telephone an hour ago. Her father answered. He told Gordy that Marietta was taking a bath and asked him to please call later.

When Marietta came into the living room her father announced that Gordy was supposed to call again, after she had time to get out of the tub. Well, Marietta went right straight through the roof. She said it was vulgar, crude and horrible of her father to tell Gordy that she was in the bathtub. Now she doesn't think she can face him as long as she lives.

May we have your views?—BEDLAM CENTER

Dear Center: It is not essential that everyone who calls on the telephone be provided with a detailed account of why the person wanted is not available at that precise moment.

It should come as no surprise of Gordy however, that Marietta bathes. I don't see how this information could diminish her in his eyes. If she hasn't stopped crying by the time this appears in print tell her to dry up and grow up.

Dear Ann Landers: We are three married children who need some advice.

Ma died 10 years ago. Pa bought a double cemetery plot and put one half stone in the middle. Ma's name is on one side of the stone, and there is a space for Pa's name on the other side.

Three years ago Pa remarried. These past few months Pa's second wife has been after him to buy another double plot for the two of them. It is the only thing we have ever heard them argue about since they married.

We are trying to stay out of it. Of course we talk among ourselves and think our father should be laid to rest beside our mother but we haven't said so. If Pa doesn't decide soon, he may need that plot sooner than he thinks. What should be done?—C. O.

Dear C. O.: It is customary to be buried beside the spouse with whom one spent the greater part of life.

Circumstances altar cases, however, so please suggest to your father that he and his wife discuss this with the clergyman who married them. The family members will then not be involved and the decision will be an objective one.

Dear Ann Landers: I am getting sick and tired of reading that same old worn-out phrase in your column — "When you marry a divorced man you marry the whole package—the ex-mate, the kids, the ex-in-laws, old friends, and so on." You gotta be crazy.

I married a divorced man and there's nothing in my marriage contract that says I have to be bothered with any of the aforementioned kooks. My husband's ex-wife is a religious fanatic who reads the Bible with one hand and drinks gin with the other. Her children are going to be just like her.

American courts seem to have the insane idea that children are better off with their mother, even if she is a nut, so I say let her paddle her own canoe. And why don't you talk about something else for a change?—OUTSPOKEN

Dear Out: It's easy to say "Let her paddle her own canoe" but that canoe has your husband's kids in it.

If this woman is as nutty as you say, and if your husband is halfway decent, he will keep in close touch with his children.

Parents are people—they can be right and they can be wrong. To help understand their viewpoint and to promote harmony at home, write for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Live With Your Parents," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Dear Ann Landers: Our next door neighbors have done so many mean and petty things that we are seriously considering selling our home to get away from them. Here is the latest incident and we want your advice.

Our 11-year-old son left his bicycle in their driveway. Yes, we know he should not have been so careless, but kids will be kids. The neighbor woman pretended not to see the bike and backed her car over it just for spite. The bike is so badly smashed that no shop will attempt to repair it.

Now get this: After the woman wrecked our son's bike she banged on our front door, enraged, because she had been scared out of her wits. She thought at first that she had hit the boy, too.

When my husband told her husband that they owe us for a new bike he replied, "You people are crazy."

We know you don't give legal advice, but what we want is common sense advice. Does this woman owe us a new bike?—NEXT DOOR TO TROUBLE

Dear Trouble: The bike was in her driveway, wasn't it? Well, the answer should be fairly obvious.

To put it another way, let the boy earn at least half the price of a new bike and you can supply the other half. Perhaps he will take better care of a second bike if he has to do something to earn it.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I had a terrific argument. We both said some pretty harsh things to each other which we regretted later. I was so angry with him because he made a remark about my being lazy that I refused to cook his dinner. We have no children and I had eaten several hours earlier.

A close friend of mine told me that no matter how mad a woman gets she has no right to refuse to cook her husband's dinner. According to her, it is the same as if the man refused to go to work. I do not agree with her. May we have your opinion?—STILL FUMING

Dear Fuming: Since when is dinner a special favor — bestowed on a husband only when he is pleasant and agreeable?

Preparing meals is as much a woman's responsibility as bringing home the paycheck is a man's. These basic responsibilities are unconditional, so think up another punishment, Toots.

Dear Ann Landers: Thank you for taking the side of the switchboard operator. Since I handle an eight line board alone, and must do some typing as well, I know what the problems are.

I wonder if the average person realizes what it's like to be on a long distance call when three or four other calls come in. The board lights up like the Fourth of July and the operator doesn't know which one to grab first.

One wrong move disconnects the party and then you get an earful of some pretty ugly language from the world's highest paid executives.

When office employees complain about the operators listening in on personal calls they can be sure of two things:

(1) The complainant is wasting a lot of her boss' time on her own personal calls.

(2) The complainant's private life has some fairly unsavory aspects and she fears exposure.—CENTIPEDE SUZY

Dear Centipede: Thanks to you, and to the hundreds of other switchboard operators who wrote, (One gal from Orlando called me "the Patron Saint of the PBX.")

Many operators emphasized that first-rate office employees don't worry about their personal calls because they make so few and those calls are brief and "dirt-free."

To solve some of the frustrations, disappointments and disillusionments of married life, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "What To Expect From Marriage," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Johnson's Faith Not Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House withheld comment on an Episcopal clergyman's objection that President Johnson's taking of Communion in the Episcopal Church was a violation of church law.

The rector of an Episcopal church where the First Family often worships, the Rev. William M. Baxter of St. Mark's, told a reporter that he feared too much controversy was developing over a matter which he felt was "not that important."

Asked if Johnson may continue to receive Communion at St. Mark's if he desires, the clergyman replied, "Of course."

Johnson is a member of the Disciples of Christ, and his wife and two daughters are Episcopalians.

The comments about the President receiving Communion came from the Rev. Canon Albert J. Dubois, executive director of the American Church Union, writing in the May issue of the group's monthly publication, American Church News.

Canon Dubois said he was not questioning the President's good faith and sincerity. He said the trouble lies in the past with priests and bishops who "took the law in their own hands."

Three of five family heads today have not completed high school, the Population Reference Bureau reports.

The Doctor Says:

Carrot Juice Not Food

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt.

Q — Can a working man live on carrot juice without any protein foods? How would this affect the liver?

A — You need protein foods every day to replace worn out tissues and you won't get them from carrot juice. The skin of people who drink carrot juice is likely to turn yellow. This is not the jaundice of liver disease but the result of too much carotene (the yellow dye in carrots) in the blood. Like most fads the drinking of carrot juice is easily overdone.

Q — I have a strong desire to eat raw carrots. I eat two or three a day. Does this mean I am lacking in some vitamin or iron?

A — Carrots are an excellent source of vitamins A and B, especially raw. Leafy vegetables are a better source of iron. But unlike some other animals, man does not always crave most what his body needs most.

Q — The results of a recent Pap smear came back "suspicious" and my doctor did a conization of my cervix right away. What is a conization and what are the chances of my having more trouble of this sort?

A — Conization is a partial removal of the mouth of the uterus. This operation is successful in removing all the malignant cells in most early cases of cancer of the cervix. It would be foolish, however, to not have a Pap smear at least twice a year from here on in because cancer of the cervix occurs at any time in any woman, especially if she is over 40.

Q — I have been taking Butisol five years for a nervous disorder. What is it? Could I continue to take it? What are the side effects?

A — Butisol is a trade name for the barbiturate, butabarbital. Since all barbiturates are habit-forming, no one should take them regularly for more than two or three weeks. Large doses may cause such side effects as skin eruption, drowsiness and "hangover." The drug would not cause or aggravate glaucoma.

Q — What do Benadryl tablets contain and for what are they given? I have taken them for headaches and head colds.

A — Benadryl is a brand of diphenhydramine. Since it is an antihistamine it is given chiefly for allergies. It has been shown repeatedly that the antihistamines have no special value in the treatment of colds.

The drug does, however, have a mild antispasmodic action. If yours are histamine headaches it should work very well. Otherwise aspirin would most likely be better.

Almost all children 7 to 13 years old were enrolled in school in 1963, according to a Census Bureau survey, while about 93 per cent of those 14 to 17 were registered.

Glenn Moreau Demo Candidate For Senator

Glenn G. Moreau, 1813 S. 23rd St., today announced his candidacy for Democratic nomination in the 30th District for Michigan state senator.

It is Moreau's first bid for state office. He is serving in the third year of a four year term as an Escanaba city councilman and is mayor pro-tem and was appointed in January by Governor Romney as a member of the board of control of Northern Michigan University at Marquette.

His is the first announced candidacy on the Democratic ticket in the new 30th District planned by Republican members of the State Apportionment Commission and approved this week by the Michigan Supreme Court. The new district will embrace Delta and the other eastern counties of the U. P., except Alger. They are Schoolcraft, Luce, Mackinac and Chippewa.

Announced candidates for the Republican contest for nomination in the district are incumbent Senator Kent T. Lundgren of Menominee and former Escanaba Mayor Harold Vanlerberghe of Escanaba.

Moreau was born in Gladstone in 1921 and moved with his parents to Niagara, Wis., and was graduated from high school there. He served in the Civilian Conservation Corps and in 1940 enlisted in the Army and trained in use of anti-aircraft equipment. He landed on Omaha Beach on D-Day under General Bradley.

He won the Purple Heart and five battle stars for service in the European Theater of War, saw action in the Battle of the Bulge and was wounded at the Remagen Bridge in Germany in February, 1945.

He attended Cloverland Commercial College on the GI Bill and took a business course and then took liberal arts studies through the American School of Chicago and completed the Dale Carnegie course and various schools in labor-management relations, time study, bargaining and grievance procedure through the UAW-CIO.

After working for several years as Escanaba manager for the Milwaukee Journal he joined Harnischfeger Corp. here in 1951 and is an inspector in its truck crane plant. He is past president of Harnischfeger Local, UAW-CIO.

Moreau was a member of the Escanaba Committee on Community Relations sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is a member of the Disabled American Veterans and has been active in civic fund raising efforts, the Little League and Babe Ruth baseball. He was appointed youth counselor for the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Central Methodist Church and is a member of the Men's Club of the church and of Masonic Lodge No. 195. His family was Methodist Family of the Year in Escanaba in 1958.

Moreau is wed and father of two children, Lawrence, 19, a student at Adrian College, and Anita, 12, an Escanaba Junior High School student.

The public meeting will be held in Carnegie Public Library at 8 p. m. on June 4.

Mrs. Lorraine Owen, the League's voters service chairman, said acceptances have come from John Anthony, Donald Kickbusch, Clara Moser and Roger Murray.

Ruleaus Plan River Trawl

For the first time ever, a permit was issued Thursday afternoon to trawl in inland waters of the Upper Peninsula.

Glenn C. Gregg, Marquette, regional manager of the Conservation Department, said the permit was signed by Conservation Director Ralph MacMullan to allow the Ruleau Brothers of Menominee to trawl in the Menominee River for alewives.

"Walleye fishing in the Menominee was excellent until a few days ago when alewives moved into the river," Gregg said. "It is our hope that we can restore the walleye fishing by having the commercial fishermen remove the alewives."

Ruleau Brothers will be able to trawl near the surface without disturbing game fish at lower depths, Gregg said. He added, however, that the permit can be cancelled at any time if it appears that other fishing species are being captured in the trawl.

A conservation officer will be aboard the commercial fishing vessel at all times when it is engaged in trawling the river.

The permit is effective immediately. It was issued after being first approved by Dorias J. Curry, Lansing, deputy director in charge of field operations for the department. Curry consulted with officials in Wisconsin, where this type of trawling has been done in the past, before approving the permit.

Experimental trawling has been done once in the Lower Peninsula on an experimental basis, but this will mark the first attempt at this type of fishing on inland waters above the Straits.

Highway, Bay Patrols Active

The Gladstone State Police Post and Sheriff Cully Johnson's department plan extra patrols on the highways and Great Lakes waters in this area in the Memorial Day weekend in an effort to prevent accidents.

Sgt. Hugh Pope of the State Police, commander of the Gladstone Post, and Sheriff Johnson both said they do not expect highway traffic to be as heavy this weekend as in the July 4th and Labor Day weekends, but that it would still be heavy and potentially dangerous.

Long distance travel will not be as heavy as in later holiday weekends when the schools are out.

State Police at Gladstone will be augmented by assignment of Det. Sgt. William Simmons of Marquette and two National Guard members of the Gladstone company and by the cancellation of all leaves. This means that instead of having two patrol cars on the highways the post will have as many as five in peak traffic periods from noon to 9 p.m. today, Saturday and Sunday.

Sgt. Pope said Gov. George

Romney has asked all patrols to keep their car lights on in the weekend.

Highway traffic still was light this morning but a heavier flow was looked for this afternoon.

Sheriff Johnson said the Civil Defense cruiser would patrol Little Bay de Noc waters off Escanaba in charge of Deputy Al Wiles and that Marine Deputy Paul Corcoran would patrol the upper bay in the weekend to enforce water safety rules. He said the department safety truck was in readiness for many emergencies ranging from plane crashes (it has fire suits) to resuscitation efforts. "We have more equipment than men," said Sheriff Johnson. His department will operate two traffic patrols in the weekend.

Dedication To Hear Romney

Gov. George Romney has confirmed that he will come to Escanaba on Wednesday or Thursday, June 17 or 18, to dedicate the new John F. Kennedy School for Retarded Children.

Erling Arntzen of Project Pride, which is building the schoolhouse for the Delta County Chapter, Michigan Association for Retarded Children, with public support on the Webster School campus, received notice of the confirmation from the governor's office in Lansing.

The Governor, who had commended the school project in earlier speeches as a community effort to solve its own problems without the familiar request for government aid, was invited to be the speaker at the dedicatory ceremony by a committee headed by Tommy Quinn of Project Pride.

The school building is substantially completed and the grounds are being landscaped. It will be ready for the fall term of school.

It was named for the late President John F. Kennedy because of his interest in the cause of the retarded and his leadership in governmental efforts to provide more aid for them.

Charles Lungerhausen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Lungerhausen, Hermansville, was named to the Dean's List of the Leelanau Schools, Glen Arbor, Mich., for the period ending May 25. He had a grade average of 3.25.

Tech To Honor S. E. Knudsen

HOUGHTON — Semon E. Knudsen, general manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division of General Motors Corp., Detroit, will deliver the address here June 6 at the 77th June commencement of Michigan Technological University.

Knudsen's son, Knud Peter, will be one of 452 candidates for graduate and undergraduate degrees at the ceremony, scheduled for 2:30 p. m. in Dee Stadium.

An honorary Doctor of Engineering degree will be conferred on Knudsen and on Norbert F. Koepel of New York, director and senior vice president of the Chile Exploration Co. and Andes Copper Mining Co.

There will be 449 candidates for the 452 degrees, with three of the 410 seniors scheduled to receive two bachelor's degrees each. Only 16 of the degree candidates are coeds.

A native of New York, Knudsen attended Dartmouth College one year then entered Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where he was graduate in 1936. He worked in Detroit machine shops three years, then joined GM in 1939 as a member of the manufacturing staff of the Pontiac Motor Division.

Knudsen was appointed general manager of Chevrolet in 1961 and has been a member of the corporation's administration committee since 1956. He is the son of the late William S. Knudsen, who served as Chevrolet general manager for 11 years and president of GM from 1937 to 1940.

Koepel is a native of Lake Linden and earned his B. S. and E. M. degrees at Michigan Tech in 1918. He joined the Anaconda Copper Mining Co. in Anaconda, Mont., that year as a research engineer, and in 1919 went to Potrerillos, Chile, as a testing engineer for the Andes Copper Mining Co. He was made general manager in 1948 and in 1963 became senior vice president. He is also an officer in the Chile Copper Co., Chile Steamship Co., and Potrerillos Railway Co., and a director of those firms and the Andes Exploration Co. of Maine and the Santiago Mining Co.

County Units To Get 'Tools'

DETROIT (AP)—In a speech by telephone, Gov. George W. Romney told a group of county supervisors Thursday one of his main concerns is to see that local government units have the tools to meet their current responsibilities.

The governor interrupted a conference in Lansing with officials from Hillsdale and the Essex Wire Corp. to speak to the Supervisors Inter-County Committee of Southeastern Michigan, observing its 10th anniversary.

Romney said the "tools" include county home rule, tax options to relieve property taxes and draw on new revenues, state aid to youth and health programs, attraction of new industry and a healthy economic picture.

"I believe we have made progress in getting these and will make more progress in the future," Romney said.

"After all," he said, "the strength of local government is to democracy what roots are to a plant."

Rock

Plan Trip

The Rock 4-H club is planning an educational trip to Escanaba on Tuesday, June 2. All members are to meet at Larsons store at 9 a. m. for transportation. The group hopes to see the Escanaba electrical and filtration plants, the Press, radio station, greenhouse and have an outdoor meal meeting for noon. Photography members are to take their cameras along.

Mrs. Francis Trombly was dismissed from St. Francis hospital Wednesday.

Sea otters live in pods, or herds. Active mainly by day, they sleep in beds of kelp, sometimes with chin on chest and a paw over each eye.

The new restaurant is adjacent to the big Delona Motel and its exterior attractively combines natural log and siding construction.

It has a well-planned double dining room, with the front dining area paneled, and the second dining room enhanced by a stone fireplace and a log interior.

The equipment of the restaurant is new throughout and modern, and at stainless steel equipment has been provided for the kitchen.

The restaurant will be open 7 days a week from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m. and will open at 6 a. m. during June, July, August, September and October. It will serve breakfasts featuring pancakes with hot butter and assorted syrups, and lunches and dinners, with fish fry specials on Fridays.

It plans special attractions for tourists and family groups, and will cater to clubs, wedding parties and other group services. Short orders will be served throughout the day and evening.

Swedish foods will be featured, including smorgasbord service and the restaurant will have a salad cart for use during the dinner hours to permit guests to choose their own salad combinations.

Election Cuts Into TV Shows

By CYNTHIA LOWERY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—NBC has decided to bump an entertainment show—the Telephone Hour starring Robert Goulet—for full-dress coverage of California's primary returns next Tuesday night.

CBS will take over the first half of Garry Moore's hour, and if the returns are interesting enough, expand its coverage to a full hour.

As usual, the three major television networks now are in fierce news competition during this presidential election year. There is still, however, a question whether the mass viewing public is as fascinated as the network news departments in the finer details of the preliminary skirmishing.

There is even a question about the viewer's overwhelming desire to watch every detail of the approaching national conventions of the two major parties.

The networks are planning to provide extensive, expensive coverage of the two events. But televised conventions—to those who were watching them in 1952, 1956 and 1960—have become an accepted though occasional part of television programming.

Next season may very possibly be the last for the slick comedy team of Lucille Ball and Vivian Vance.

Miss Vance, it is known, finds constant transcontinental travel between her Hollywood job and her literary agent husband, John Dodds, and their Connecticut home difficult, and would like to settle down on the East Coast.

Vivian is expected to appear in 20 or more episodes of next season's "Lucy Show." The top candidate at the moment for Vivian's replacement is Ann Southern, who will appear in some of the programs.

What some of us hoped would prove to be an exclusive Ed Sullivan monopoly—importation of long-haired English rock 'n' roll singers for TV guest shots—now threatens to become an epidemic. ABC's "Hollywood Palace" will introduce "The Rolling Stones," still another shaggy-haired quintet on June 13.

This compared with 172,657 last week and 139,394 in the year-ago week.

Makers turned out an estimated 725,921 cars in May, but the figure is subject to final revisions. If it stands up, it would eclipse the old May record of 724,892 set in 1955.

Output for the year to date moved up to an estimated 3,657,000, compared with 3,351,426 for the similar period last year.

Lynda Johnson's Roommate Goes Back To Texas

WASHINGTON (AP)—After "four months of wonderment" as the White House roommate of Lynda Bird Johnson, Warrie Lynn Smith, 19, returned to Texas with memories she'll never forget.

"I just fell in love with everyone," she admitted as she said a wistful goodbye to everyone from diplomats to White House policemen. And everyone seemed to have fallen in love with Warrie.

The White House stay gave Warrie "a feeling and a spirit that will always be with me."

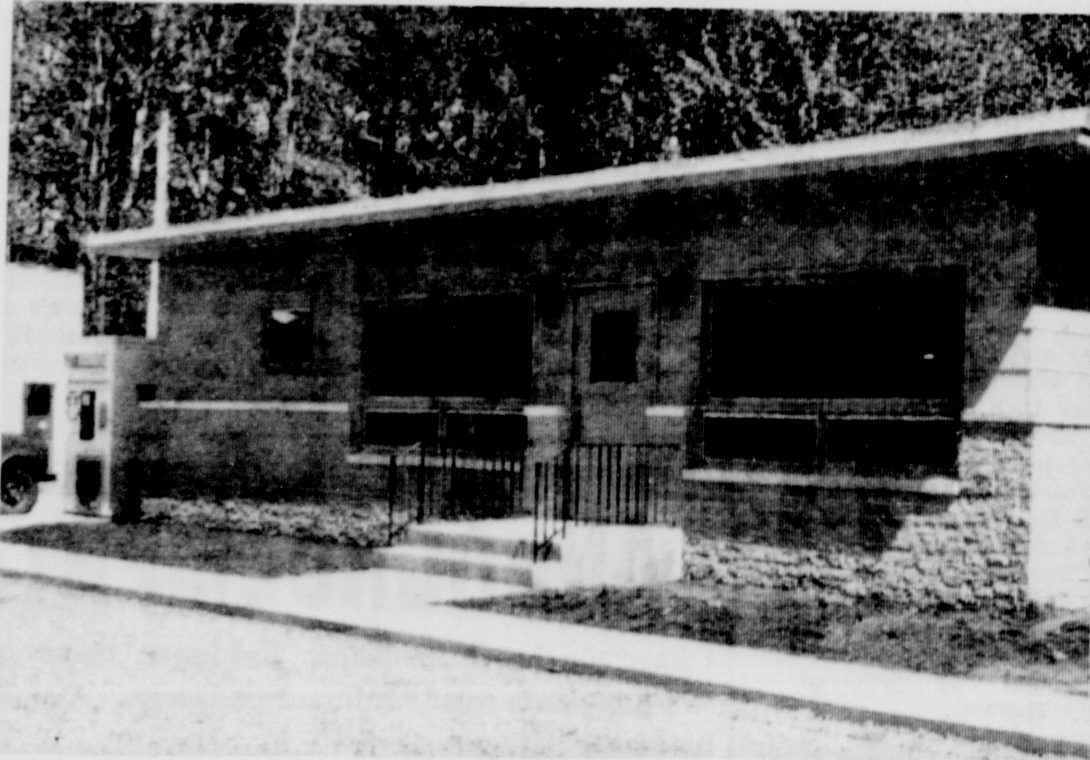

It wasn't quite certain whether Warrie Lynn would return to join Lynda Bird for the remainder of their sophomore year at George Washington University next fall. She has said she's going back to the University of Texas, but the Johnsons expect she and Lynda will do lots of visiting back and forth during the summer.

April 30 totaled $65.1 million, compared to $60.7 a year earlier.

A Neil Gurstine, president, told stockholders in an interim report: "Business conditions appear favorable for the balance of our year and we expect another record year of sales and earnings."

Gaylord Added To Route Of North Central

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner recommended Wednesday that Gaylord, Mich., be added to the route of North Central Airlines and that Cadillac-Reed City, Pontiac and Port Huron, Mich., be deleted.

Examiner Ralph L. Wiser said North Central could provide service to Gaylord without significant adverse effect on its need for subsidy.

Although North Central and the CAB's Bureau of Economic Regulation opposed the proposed new service on the basis that Gaylord would be unable to generate the CAB-required minimum of five passengers a day, Wiser said this standard is not used as a basis for determining whether a new service should be authorized.

Wiser said the Michigan cities recommended for removal from North Central's system are among those making the "poorest showing on the nation's air map."

He said a CAB sampling survey in 1962 ranked Pontiac 532nd in traffic volume among 546 cities receiving air service, Port Huron 500th, and Cadillac-Reed City 498th.

Those cities opposed any elimination of service and said they have not been given an adequate trial period.

The examiner proposed that Gaylord be added to North Central's Sault Ste. Marie - Detroit route between Pellston and Alpena.

The board allowed 25 days for the filing of any petitions for review.

CIGARETTES TOO MILD?
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Men who believe women have encroached too far into their domain are in for another disheartening blow—women are smoking cigars.

"Women are responding more and more to cigars," said Eugene L. Raymond, president of the Cigar Institute of America.

Officials attending a joint meeting of the CIA and the Cigar Manufacturers of America convention held here estimated that some 60,000 American women are already smoking cigars.

One believed that it won't be too long before women begin emulating their Danish sisters and start smoking cigars in public.

Unnamed U.P. Town Honored

DETROIT (AP) — A new height of something-or-other in governmental publicity was reached by the Small Business Administration's Detroit regional office Thursday.

A mailed press release quoted Robert F. Phillips, regional director, as announcing selection of the "Michigan Small Business of the Year" in connection with "Small Business Week."

an Upper Peninsula town of 2,600 where 25 townspeople help the firm process building studs from hemlock and balsam logs.

Nowhere in the handout was the company or the town named. A reporter, suspecting a publicity agent's goof, telephoned.

"We're not allowed to tell you the name of the company or town," said Bob Layman, chief of the investment division. "That's policy given us by Washington. Sorry, I can't help you."

Layman referred the reporter to Charles Lockwood, SBA counsel here and acting regional director in Phillips' absence in Washington.

"That's right," Lockwood agreed. "Under policy laid down we cannot identify the company involved or the town."

The handout, after announcing selection of the anonymous "Michigan Small Business of the Year," went on to say that in 1961 the company borrowed $330,000 for equipment to start operations and got another $35,000 SBA loan in 1963 for additional equipment to increase efficiency.

Carl Sandburg:

The Great Poet's Thoughts on Memorial Day

By ROBERT COCHNAR
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Because he is a poet, Carl Sandburg can draw from the world little things — and big things — and make them sharp, powerful, vivid.

Because he is a man, a rough-hewn product of the Middle West and a part of the American people, he can talk with Americans and for them, not to them, not from the poet's usual detached viewpoint.

This may be why critics call Sandburg America's greatest living poet.

Although now, at 86, he lives quietly with his wife, Lillian, and tends his 34 purebred goats on a 242-acre farm in the mountain region near Flat Rock, N.C., he has not lost touch with Americans. Perhaps, therefore, his thoughts and reminiscences add a special relevancy to this Memorial Day, to any Memorial Day.

"I try to follow world events closely," he told Newspaper Enterprise Assn. and this newspaper recently, "and, on this Memorial Day, I think we have much to be thankful for—and much to remember."

"There are no loud clashes in the world right now and I think we can all properly hope for peace. Things are looking up."

But if Memorial Day is a time for looking into the future, Sandburg says, so is it a time for remembering the past and the wars fought, the men killed in battle so that this generation of Americans can set their eyes on a future filled with promise.

One of Sandburg's war poems—now included in many high school anthologies and closely identified with the poet—is a brief and poignant story of all wars, although it was written during World War I. Sandburg called it "Grass."

"I can't recall the actual circumstances which caused me to write it," he says, "but I was working for the Chicago Daily News at the time." This was shortly before he left for Europe to cover the postwar period and the rise of communism for the Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

"I wrote the poem," he adds "because I wanted people to remember war and its horror. And I wouldn't change a line of it now. I think its thoughts are still appropriate."

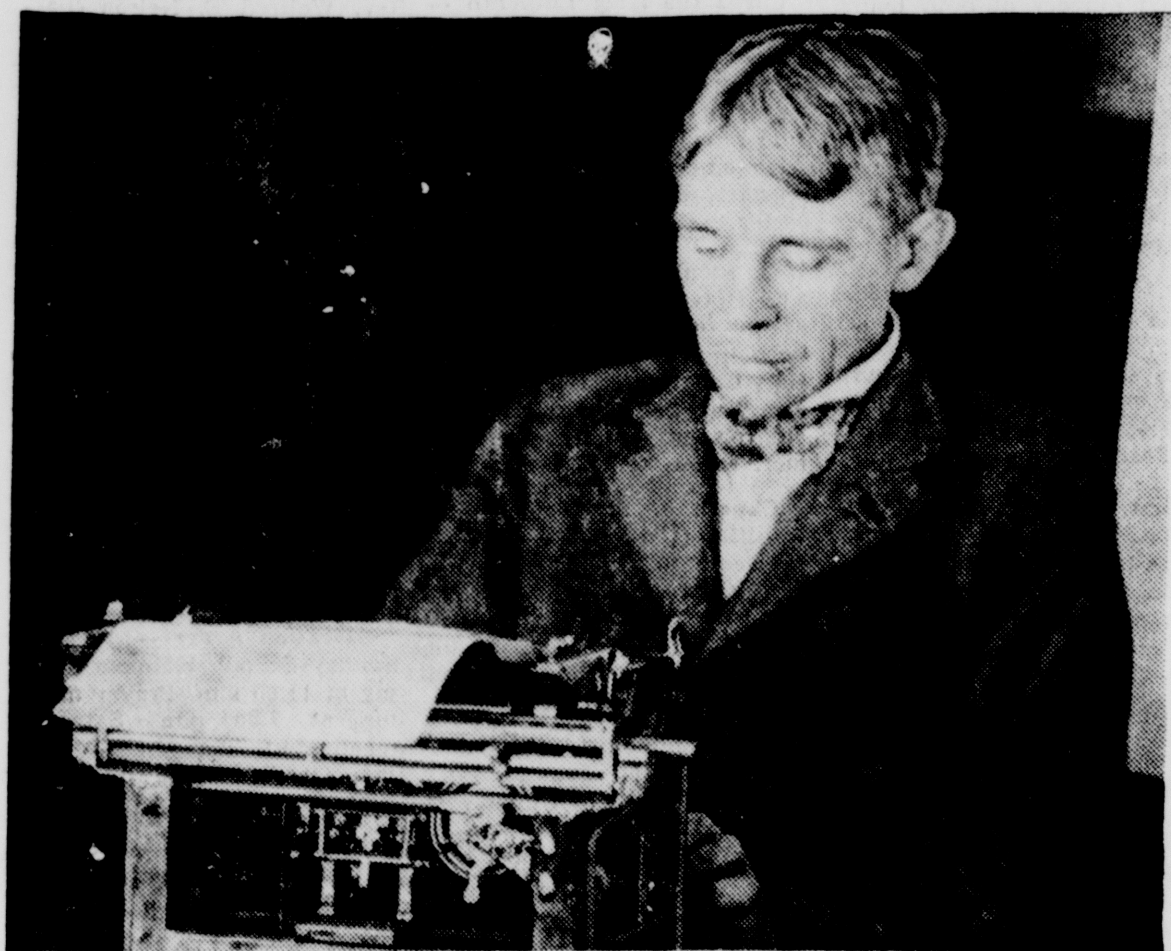

Harry Hanson, who was literary editor for the Chicago Daily News when Sandburg was a reporter and editorial writer, said in 1925 that "Carl could not become one of war's apologists. He was not concerned with allotting praise and blame. The men who fought seemed to be most in his mind."

About "Grass," Hanson wrote: "There is much concern with the grass covering ancient battlefields and new, reiterating the futility of human battling. The idea that war gets us nowhere is prominent."

"'Grass' was one of the first poems I wrote," Sandburg recalls. "I think it's a good one. It expresses just about what I wanted to say at the time. Now maybe you can call it my message for Memorial Day."

SANDBURG IN 1961, as he toured the Gettysburg battlefield for a television program.

SANDBURG IN 1918, when "Grass" was written. Soon after, he was sent to Europe as a Newspaper Enterprise Assn. correspondent.

Where are we now?

NEW COURTHOUSE

SANDY HOOK, Ky. (AP)—

Elliott County expects to have a courthouse by the summer of 1964, its first in 6½ years.

Fire destroyed the courthouse and jail at Sandy Hook late in 1957.

While county officials moved into temporary quarters, a good part of the insurance collected on the property was used to build a new jail.

A $100,000 bond issue was voted and finally approved in a court test. The county had to wait, though, for a $102,000 federal grant before it was ready to start a new courthouse.

Elliott County is in mountainous Eastern Kentucky, 175 miles east of Louisville.

Romney's Office
Intruder Sent To Mental Hospital

LANSING (AP)—A former Miami, Fla., man who invaded Gov. George W. Romney's office with a loaded gun and a knife was ordered committed to a state mental hospital.

Probate Judge James T. Kallman of Ingham County said following a sanity hearing that he had no choice but to commit Charles P. English, 38, after observing his actions and listening to testimony by psychiatrists.

English was ordered committed to the Kalamazoo State Hospital on Friday or Monday.

English claimed, following the hearing, that he is an agent of the Central Intelligence Agency. He handed his court-appointed attorney, Jack Warren, a note which he said contained his "private number."

Warren was instructed to call the CIA in Washington, D. C., to prove or disprove the claim by English, who previously also had claimed to be an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Laotian Premier Souvanna Phouma has asked the Soviet Union to provide his embattled neutralist forces with ammunition for their Russian arms.

Souvanna made the request in a letter to Soviet Ambassador Sergei Affanassiev.

"Ammunition for arms supplied by the Soviet government, notably for 85mm guns, is becoming very short because of several encounters which have taken place recently between neutralist forces and (Communist) Pathet Lao forces," Souvanna said.

Souvanna added his government "would like very much to receive sufficient quantities of ammunition to be able to face situation."

Souvanna also asked the Soviet government to repair Russian gift transport planes which are now inoperative. The premier asked the Russians to repair the planes about a year ago but got no answer.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The 30th of November Movement, an anti-Castro organization, took issue with Rep. Paul G. Rogers, D-Fla., who told the House on Wednesday he understood one of its planes flew from south Florida to Cuba early this week.

"The plane did not take off from the United States, but from a secret place in the Caribbean," said Jose Feijoo, 30th of November chief information officer.

Rogers called for a congressional investigation of what he said appeared to be "an inexcusable gap in the U.S. air defense system." He told the House he was informed the plane escaped radar detection by flying at 100 feet.

Emmitt Borga Is Appointed To Witness Post

Emmitt G. Borga, 36, 410 S. 12th St., Escanaba, has been appointed to assist Bruce Turner of Marquette in the news service department at the three-day assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses to be held in Escanaba, June 5-7.

"I'm looking forward to this convention with a great deal of interest," declared Borga, "not only will all learn to apply Christian principles better from the various timely discussions, but the Saturday evening session will feature the premiere showing in this area of the two hour color film entitled, 'Proclaiming Everlasting Good News Around The World.'"

Borga is no newcomer to conventions of Jehovah's Witnesses. "I would estimate that I have attended and taken part in some 39 conventions," he stated. Among them would be the international gathering in New York City in 1958, which had an attendance of over 250,000 from 123 lands on the final day. He estimates that he has traveled some 15,000 miles going to and from these assemblies.

Borga, who is an insurance agent, is the father of three children, and is the overseer of the Bible study activity of the Escanaba congregation.

Quiet Good Taste

DIGNIFIED AND ECONOMICAL: This tasteful one-story home contains six rooms, including three bedrooms. The roof has a slightly sharper pitch than most ranch type homes, allowing for a dramatic cathedral ceiling in the living room. The architect is Samuel Paul.

If a small house FEELS small to the family living in it, the reason isn't always the obvious one of too many people. As often as not the house was just poorly designed.

The fact is, many families actually need a house smaller than the one they're in—and can have it without sacrificing an iota of comfort or livability.

"You don't design a small house merely by cutting down the size of a nice large one," insists architect Samuel Paul. "A good small house must be planned from the start to be precisely that, a small house."

In today's House of the Week, H-32 in the series, architect Paul packaged three bedrooms, two full baths, living room, dining room, kitchen with dinette, and an entrance foyer into a tidy 1,216 square feet and dimensions of 47' wide by 41'9" deep. If a two-car garage is built instead of the single garage, the width would increase to 56'.

In short, there are more than the bare essentials here. The rooms are nicely proportioned; there is plenty of closet space throughout; and traffic flows naturally and easily from one room to another.

The secret is a remarkably efficient floor plan. It is laid out to use the least amount of area for hallways while still providing for a roomy entrance foyer. Disposition of closets, baths and stairs also is cleverly done to afford natural sound buffers for the sleeping zone. The exterior is in quiet good taste, a traditional facade featuring a covered front portico and deft use of vertical boards and shingles. It's a facade with built-in resale value; an appearance of pleasant dignity which is ageless in appeal.

Additional Details

What this house saves in size it makes up in dramatic touches. The most unusual of these

H-32 STATISTICS

A one-story home with living room, dining room, kitchen with dinette, three bedrooms, two full baths, foyer, portico, dining terrace, one or two-car garage, full basement. Basic area is 1,216 square feet in over all dimensions of 47' by 41'9". Two-car garage would increase width to 56'. Basement contains 1,216 square feet; garage 241 square feet; portico 82 square feet. Minimum lot recommended: 65' by 70'.

is a living room wall, though architect Paul includes the treatment as an optional feature.

To begin with, the living room has two wood paneled walls and a soaring cathedral ceiling which adds an extra dimension of space to the moderately large (17'6" by 13'4") room. At one end of the room Paul has designed a brick fireplace with a paneled wood hood stretching all the way up to the peak of the ceiling. On both sides of the fireplace, full mirrors reach from floor to ceiling and out to each side wall. The effect is one of exhilarating spaciousness.

Another interesting layout is that of the kitchen. It is attractive and roomy and features a corner style sink with a window alongside. Counter and storage space are abundant, and there is plenty of room for a large dinette overlooking the rear terrace.

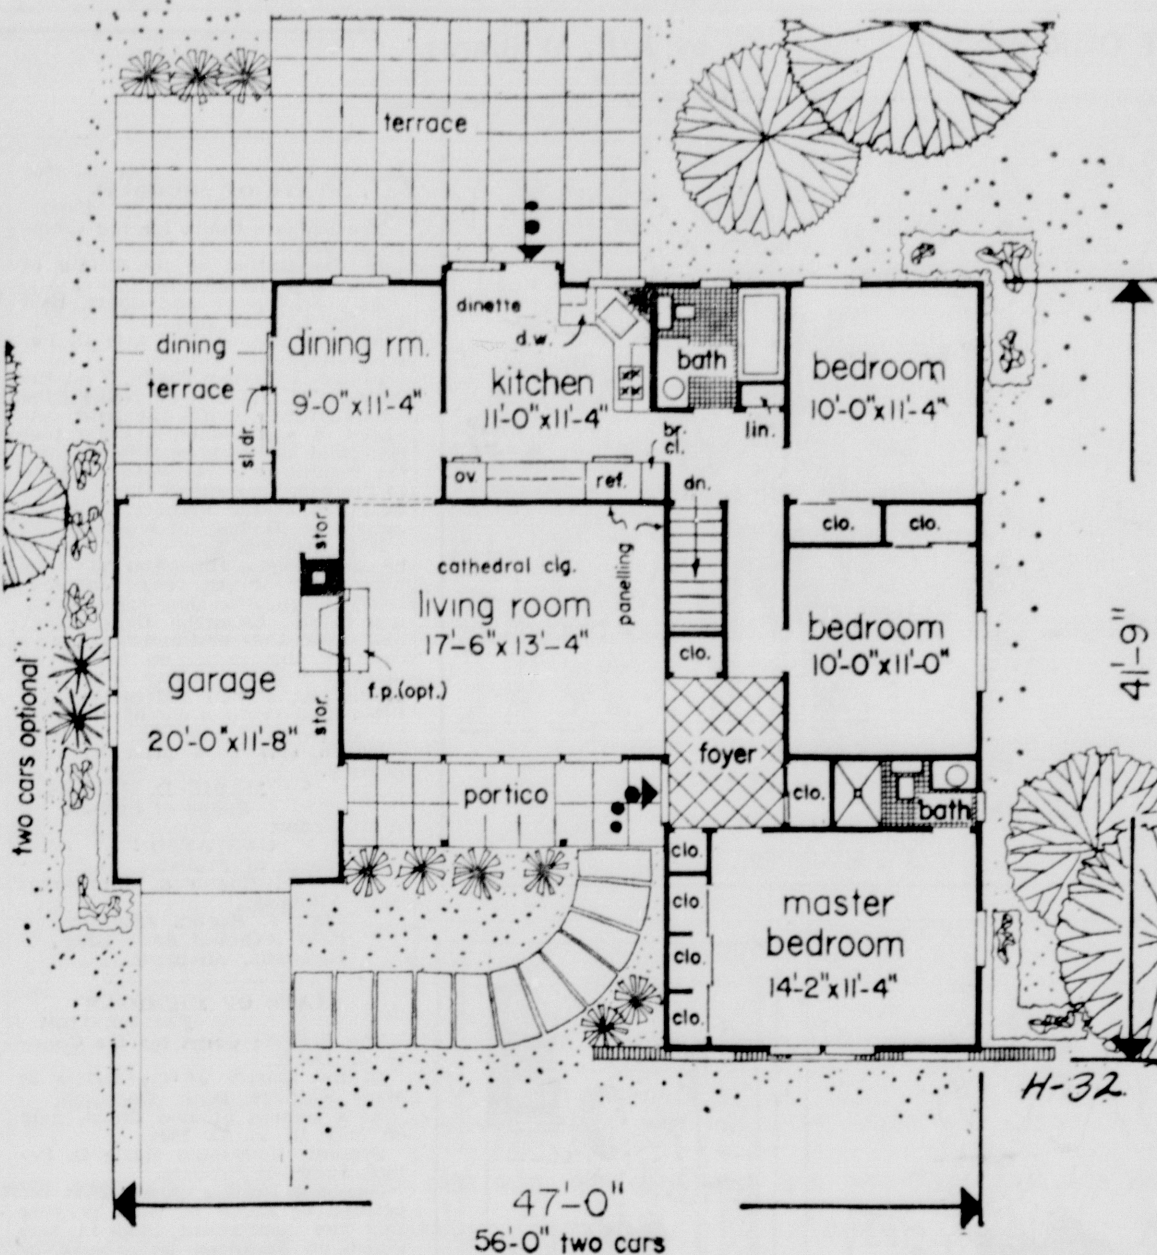

The dining room adjoins, and a pair of sliding glass doors leads from this room to the sheltered dining terrace. This outdoor nook can be fenced for added privacy.

Special attention is due the unusual amount of closet space for this size house. In the entrance foyer, for instance, there are no less than three closets—and none of them takes up space so important to a gracious entry. All three bedrooms also have roomy closets, and there is a linen closet right outside the bathroom door.

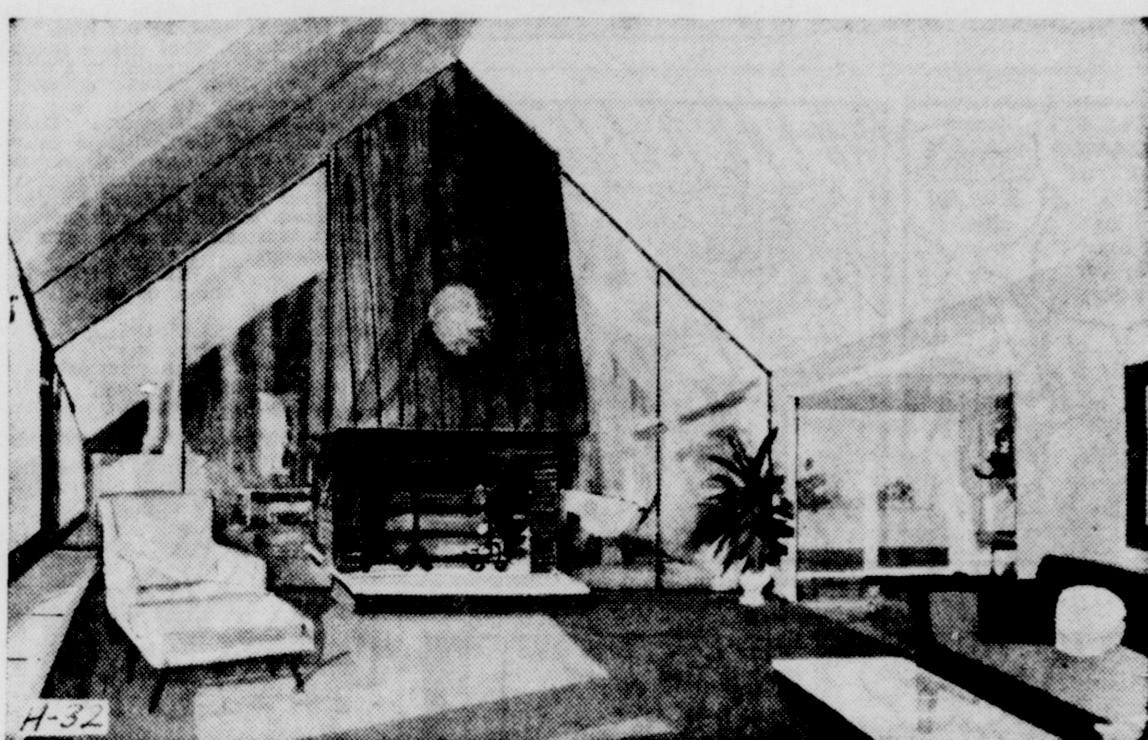

The family bathroom is nicely located so that it is convenient both to the bedrooms and to the daily living area. The master bedroom, of course, has its own private bath.

The house has a full basement which can be developed as the owner sees fit. With 1,216 square feet to work with, there is plenty of space available for laundry, recreation room, hobby room and the like.

Dog bites cost the Post Office about $1 million last year in medical fees, sick leave and lost time.

FLOOR PLAN: This remarkably efficient layout uses the least amount of space for traffic flow while still providing for a roomy entrance foyer and center hall plan. Note the abundance of closets—including three in the foyer.

ILLUSION OF SPACE: As an optional treatment of a living room wall, the architect suggests this dramatic wood paneled fireplace hood flanked by full mirrors. Two other walls are wood paneled.

Townships Fear Ballot Squeeze

LANSING — Charging that "a bunch of prima donnas" are trying to hold Michigan's new Constitution "sacred", the Michigan Townships Association has launched a campaign to amend it.

Directors of the association have voted to circulate petitions asking changes in the new document, especially to have township officials taken off the ballot in November. Instead, the association wants township officers elected every two years in the spring.

One of the arguments used in favor of passing the new Constitution in April, 1963, was that it would eliminate the multitude of elections that then confronted voters. This, in turn, would lower election costs, it was said.

'Adamant Attitude'

But Louis Stein, president of the association and supervisor of Wayne County's Canton Township said that township officials will be completely "buried and forced off voting machines" in next November's election.

The association is having its petitions printed now, said Joseph A. Parisi, Jr., executive director. They will be in circulation by June 1 and filed by July 6, he said. They will need 276,484 signatures, and the association is shooting for 300,000 to allow a safety margin.

Parisi said:

"Every attempt to enact resolutions to amend the new Constitution has been met with an adamant, all-or-nothing attitude by those who have labelled the new Constitution as almost sacred."

Holding it in such veneration, Parisi said, is "a bunch of prima donnas in the Legislature who were delegates to the Constitutional Convention."

(Of the 144-member Legislature, 13 were Con-Con delegates.)

City Refrains

Asked if he also referred to Gov. Romney, who was a vice-president at the convention, Parisi answered, "You said it."

"Every effort by us to get the Constitution changed has been met by a rebuff," Parisi said. "We have been told, 'No, there will be no change in the Constitution.' Some legislators want to go along with us, but they can't because of pressures on them from the governor's office."

A resolution to exempt township officials from the November election has passed the Senate and been sent to the House, where it is in the Committee on Revision and Amendment of the Constitution. Parisi says he has been told by Committee Chairman Homer Arnett, Kalamazoo Republican, that the resolution will die there.

The township's Association also proposes changing a section of the Constitution dealing with powers to levy ad valorem taxes on property. It wants to substitute the word "township" for the words "any part of the district or territory" to be affected by changes in the tax rate.

Parisi implied that the Township Association received a promise from the governor in January, 1963, when Romney told their annual convention:

"I am urging you to support the adoption of this new Constitution. After it is adopted and you don't like certain sections of it you can then amend it."

Romney denied that he made any promises, although he said, "We still have some problems with election of township and county officers."

Prison Trusty Drowned Aiding Man With Cramp

PONTIAC (AP) — A prison trusty drowned in Kent Lake Wednesday while attempting to aid a fellow prisoner who had suffered a cramp.

Police identified the victim as Leslie C. Motley, 20, of Pontiac. He was serving a 1-to-2 year sentence for unlawful use of an automobile.

Motley and Loyd Bartholomew, 21, were attempting to retrieve a picnic table from the lake, police said. They had been assigned to a conservation detail in the Oakland County park by officials at Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson.

Some fishermen rescued Bartholomew.

Weather Isn't Aiding Anglers

Weather conditions in eastern Delta County have made fishing success poor the past week. High winds have made walleye fishing on Big Bay de Noc almost an impossibility and heavy rains have held the water levels up on the trout streams, the Conservation department reports. All fishing is expected to improve with a settling of the conditions and an increase in fishing pressure, meanwhile, lake fishing on the various inland lakes offers the best sport.

In the Ensign area no fishing activity is reported on Ogontz Bay. Trout fishing has been very slow with little activity. Water is very high due to the recent rains. Better fishing is expected with fly hatch and lower water.

Perch fishing has been good in Little Bay de Noc off Gladstone, south of Garth, and at various different locations in the bay. Walleye fishing has been very poor, with few fish taken. Those caught were exceptionally large, one catch of four fish, weighing 28 pounds, was taken off the Day's River reef. Trout fishing should improve if stream levels, which at present are very high, subside.

In the Munising area a few rainbow trout are being taken below the weir at the Miner River as well as trolling at the mouth of the Minor and Mosquito Rivers. Brook trout fishing with flies has been most productive on inland lakes with a few also taken on worms. Rivers are starting to produce some fair catches, with the Big Indian River giving the best yield at this time. Crappie and bluegill fishermen are experiencing some fine catches at Fish and Wedge lakes.

In the Chatham Area fishing success for brook trout picked up the first part of the week but tapered off Friday and Saturday due to 90 degree temperatures. Heavy rain Saturday night raised levels and roiled water making for poor fishing Sunday and the next few days. Fair fishing was had, however, on the Slapneck Creek in the Chatham, Eben, and Forest Lake areas with a few in the 15-16 inch class taken from the AuTrain river downstream from the power house. The mouth of the Rock River and below the weir produced a few rainbow on spawn and streamer fly. Perch continue to hit good in the AuTrain Basin but are small in size. AuTrain Lake produced some good perch catches with some in the jumbo class. Some very good walleye catches were taken from the AuTrain Lake but success was spotty with fish hitting good on some days and nothing for other days. Some northern pike success in AuTrain Lake on night crawlers, daredevils, and live bait. Mouth of the Rock River giving up some menomencis.

In the Trenary area Spurlay Lake and Big Trout Lake in Marquette County have been producing a few rainbow on worms and lures. Moccasin Lake in the same area is giving up some brook trout, but there are few limit catches. Little Lake is giving up some nice walleyes, on lures and crawler harnesses, and also, giving up some panfishing;

Hand Severed, Sewed Back On At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—By medical definition Jessie S. Bray's right hand was detached from her arm in a milling machine accident, but she is on her way to regaining almost complete use of it.

The hand was sewed back on an operation which her surgeon, Dr. Hugh Williams, called "almost an unbelievable success."

Dr. Williams headed a three-man surgical team which restored the hand May 16 in an operation at Community Hospital which took almost five hours. Hospital officials said Wednesday that Mrs. Bray, 39, is almost ready for intensive therapy to regain use of the hand.

The lock company employee's hand hung by an inch of skin and two tendons after the accident. The surgeons stitched together eight tendons, three major nerves and two major blood vessels.

bluegills, perch, and sunfish. Stream fishing for trout in the Trenary area has been fair to good with worms and flies still the best bait.

MANISTIQUE Engineers Find Flood Control Work Justified

The Army Corps of Engineers has advised the Schoolcraft Board of Supervisors that studies made under a Congressional flood control act approved July 14, 1960 indicates improvements to control and reduce flooding in the Indian Lake area are feasible and can be economically justified. The study was sought by the area following a critical high water period here in which river sandbagging and blasting of the brewery bridge area were necessary to discharge high water on Indian Lake.

A diversion channel has been selected as the plan for further consideration, to provide additional lake outlet capacity and provide effective control of the lake level. This would reduce the frequency of occurrence and extent of possible future flooding. Some relief for the city in reduced Indian River discharge in high water periods also would be provided with it.

The proposed site is on the southeast end of Indian Lake, extending south to Lake Michigan. Total federal first cost would be $700,000 and the local sponsoring share, $150,000. Preliminary studies have indicated a flood control project for the city is not economically feasible at this time, the Corps wrote.

The Manistique area will have several persons visiting in Europe this summer, including Mrs. Ronald Patrick and two children, Miss Adeline Wager, Thompson, Mrs. Lydia Mattson, Manistique and Mrs. Wesley Orr Jr., and sons of Farmington.

Mrs. Orr and two sons will come to their cottage at Sunset Beach and join Mrs. Mattson and Miss Wager for the group air trip July 10 from New York to Scandinavia.

They will spend five weeks there, visiting the birthplaces in Sweden of Miss Wager's parents, the late Matt and Anna Wager, Mrs. Mattson's home area and other places. The tour begins in Stockholm, and includes a brief stop in Copenhagen.

Mrs. Patrick, who was born in Germany and came here six years ago as a bride of a Manistique teacher, is making her first trip back. With her are her children, Allen, 7 and the youngest of the four, Lynn, 15 months. They left May 16 to spend six weeks in the Roentling area and return June 27.

State Health Men Study City Water

Two men from the water supply section of the Michigan Department of Health's engineering division are arriving Monday to begin a week-long study of the water supply of the City of Manistique. They will bring a small mobile laboratory with them.

Checks are planned of the Indian River, Indian Lake and the watershed above Indian Lake, to determine source of a taste and odor problem in city water.

A lessening of turbidity has been noted, City Manager S. C. Gesko Jr. reports and the water is safe for use. Recent rain-falls accompanied by heavy winds and electrical storms caused increased turbidity, due to heavy rush of water picking up more organic, dying material. This was expected, he said.

Coming for the study are Gordon Olivier and William A. Kelley. They will be here through Friday. Microscopic testing materials, photo equipment, and chemicals for jar tests will be included in supplies brought here for the work.

Timber Cutting Pays $250,000

COOKS — With this year's cutting and peeling of poplar, white birch and mixed hardwoods, a quarter of a million dollars will be put in pockets of woodworkers, Alex Weigandt of Cooks reports.

Weigandt, buyer for Sawyer-Stoll reports 95 per cent of the cutting is within a 25-mile radius of Manistique. The payment is exclusive of stumpage. Volume is up due to mills purchasing more peeled, mixed hardwoods.

The woods are quite wet due to rains of the past two months, but this has not slowed production in any way, Weigandt said.

Let's take an advance peek at one of the most attractive football schedules in Escanaba school history. Coach Jerry Cventog's gridders will play a nine game schedule next fall. The Eskymos will play home games against Ishpeming, Stephenson, Sault Ste. Marie and Kingsford. On the road, they will face Menominee, Negaunee, Marquette, Iron Mountain and Preble.

To date, Holy Name has only seven grid games scheduled for next fall and the Crusaders are looking for two more foes. The open dates are on the first and fifth weekends of the campaign. Holy Name's schedule at present includes Rudyard, Menominee, Munising, Kingsford, Preble, Calumet and Manistique.

Marquette got its first softball no-hitter this week in the Tri-City league. Veteran Les Melka blanked Ging's Bar for Copper Country Dairy, 3-0, fanning 10 batsmen and facing only 24.

The expected softball pitching duel matching Reno Pettenuzzo and Whitey Horka didn't come off in Soo this week. Pettenuzzo was on hand and fired a one-hitter as his Doran team edged Bosch 4-3, but Horka wasn't on the mound for the losers. Gerry Synette handled the Bosch pitching duties.

Dick Berlinski (who else) was named the most valuable athlete on the Kingsford track team at the annual awards dinner this week. Other Flivvers honored were Paul Santoni in basketball, Bob Staple in tennis and skiing and Fred Fregario in golf. Football lineman Dick Burby was presented the special scholar-athlete award.

Undefeated atop the Iron Mountain Intercity softball league standings is Bosch Beer. In their last start the Beers nipped E. K. Iron-Steel 2-1 behind Carl Lemini's five-hit pitching effort.

Don Fontana, Iron Mountain kiegler, had reason to tear his hair out over the weekend. He sat helplessly as his third place score in the Peterson Bowling Classic in Chicago was bettered, dropping him to the fourth spot. Which cost him exactly $4,000 in prize money. Fontana, who has to watch the clock from now until July 12 for the Peterson changes, can place from 12th to 30th and still net $1,000.

The continued improvement of Upper Peninsula high school track and field athletes in recent years is nothing short of amazing. In the last five years there has been a total of 52 new U.P. records set in the finals. And in one of those years—1961 at Houghton—officials ruled out a couple of records in the short distance events because of a strong following wind. And here's another indication of the tremendous strides made by track athletes in recent years. Only 11 of the 39 current Upper Peninsula records were set prior to 1960.

Tennis Tourney Is Final Event For U.P. Preps

The Upper Peninsula high school Class A-B tennis tournament, final competition of the year for prep athletes, begins today at Marquette.

Escanaba High School is one of seven schools with athletes in action at the U. P. finals. Other schools represented are Marquette, Kingsford, Iron Mountain, Menominee, Negaunee and defending champion Stambaugh.

Competition will be continuous at four area courts, beginning simultaneously at the Negaunee Playgrounds, Presque Isle, Northern Michigan University and Ohio Street in Marquette. There will be singles activity at all four locations throughout Friday morning, resuming again at 2:30 in the afternoon.

On Saturday, all competition moves to the NMU courts.

The players in singles competition are: Marquette—Graveraet—Aker Ryhagen, Steve Kemp, Ben Bennett; Escanaba—Robert Sovey, Robert Haack, Dennis Reeves; Kingsford—Robert Marsh, Roy Steinkne, Ronald Poisson; Iron Mountain—Greg Bastian, David Peterson, Paul Feldhausen.

Menominee—Tom Barley, Terry Heckel, Larry Trautner; Negaunee—Dick Kivisto, Jeff Harris, Joe Baldini; Stambaugh—Ron Shogquist (defending champion), Bill Koponen, Thomas Shogquist.

Double teams will be: Marquette—Dwight Johnson-Peter Rosten, Jeffrey Glass-

Dean Docklund, Richard O'Dell-Brian Peterson. Escanaba—Floyd Eade-Dick Sivertsen, Tom Marrier-Russell Flath, Steve Anzalone-Joe Mileski.

Negaunee—Nolan Duquette-Carl Collins, Tom Carilli-Mike Ruhnanen, Pete Heideman-Glen Stephens.

Menominee—Frank Porth-Mike Nerat, Gary Gaffin-Charles Waller, Steve Gilbert-Jerry Gignac.

Kingsford—Robert Staple-Gene Kangas, David Brule-Mark Willman, Donald Mannig-William Atkinson.

Even Stengel Was Amazed

NEW YORK (AP)—When the New York Mets got 19 runs and 23 hits in one day, even Casey Stengel was amazed. A television network (ABC) decided to commemorate the event by presenting a special segment Saturday on Wide World of Sports.

"Even as other generations tell of Babe Ruth's pointing to the bleachers or Bobby Thomson hitting the home run, we are proud to play a small part in perpetuating the glorious memory of that day," said Roone Arledge, executive producer of the program.

Jaycee Little Leaguers To Open Season Saturday

Championship play begins Saturday for the Escanaba Jaycee Little League with a tripleheader on tap for the Memorial Day activities. League champion Rotary will open defense of their title at 1:15 when they play V. F. W. The Bankers host the Lions at 3 and Kiwanis tangles with the Credit Union at 6.

With most managers optimistic in true pre-season style and some using the crying towel, it looks like only Rotary manager John Chylek is set with two experienced pitchers. He will send either John Gravelle or Tom Kangas to the hill in the opener against V. F. W. Don Ohman, Vet manager, will probably start his four year man, Bob Thompson.

Although the pitching for the early-season favorite Lions has looked ragged in pre-season games, Steve Kleiman is expected to go the route for Lloyd Lindstrom's crew. The Bob Jensen-Rollie Collins board of strategy for the Bankers will open with their ace lefthander Bob Gauthier.

Stamped as the dark horse of the race, and with Manager Al Gossan definitely optimistic about his team, the Credit Union will start the talented Danny Mylander. However, Kiwanis skipper Pete Ross may have a sleeper in Robert McGinn, who had a one-hit shutout his last time out.

For the second time in 14 years the league has expanded its operation and the newly formed Eagles will swing into action Tuesday night when they meet the Lions. Second oldest in Michigan Little League history, the Escanaba Jaycees got into business in 1951 with the Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary and the St. Joseph Boosters sponsoring teams. Over the years the Escanaba Junior Chamber of Commerce has sponsored the league and provided the insurance.

The Boosters won the first league championship and their starting pitcher Gary Pailer, lead the Escanaba team to a state championship by beating Midland 12 to 2 and throwing a 7 to 0 no-hitter against Birmingham in their first year of tournament play. These same boys formed the nucleus of the 1955 American Legion team which became the only team north of the straits ever to win the state American Legion Junior baseball championship.

However over the years Rotary has been the most consistent winner in local league play. They have won the crown four times, and in pre-game activity the Jaycee League trophy will be presented to Rotary president Bob Mosenfelder by Jaycee Queen Geraldine LaFleur Prior to Mayor George Rusch throwing out the first ball, the V. F. W. color guard will present the colors in the traditional flag raising ceremony.

Face In Scoreboard Results in Protest

By The Associated Press
There were 8,649 fans in Forbes Field, but Philadelphia Manager Gene Mauch noticed a face in the scoreboard. So he protested.

National League headquarters now has a rather delicate decision to make.

Here's what happened Thursday night as the Phillies lost to Pittsburgh 6-5 and dropped into second place behind the San Francisco Giants, who defeated St. Louis 2-1 on Willie Mays' 18th homer.

Mauch protested as the Phillies came to bat in the sixth inning, complaining that he had spotted a face in the left field scoreboard. Mauch said it belonged to EliRoy Face.

Knowing full well that faces in scoreboards often steal signs, Mauch said this Face had no business there.

The Pirates' relief specialist admitted he was in the scoreboard.

"I went there just before the first Philadelphia batter came up in the sixth," he said. And, said Face, he had a reason for being in the scoreboard:

He was using the rest room facilities there.

The case now goes to the National League jury, Warren Giles presiding.

While the Phillies and Giants were exchanging place in the standings, the Los Angeles Dodgers and Cincinnati played the longest game of the season — with neither team winning. It ended in a 2-2 tie, called because of curfew after 17 innings, and will have to be replayed.

Elsewhere in the NL, a suicide squeeze bunt by Nellie Fox gave Houston the tie-breaking run in a 4-2 victory over Milwaukee and the Chicago Cubs defeated the New York Mets 2-0 on Billy Williams' 11th homer and Larry Jackson's three-hit pitching.

In the only American League game scheduled, Kansas City capitalized on four Chicago errors and handed Juan Pizarro his first loss by beating the White Sox 4-1.

After the early skirmishing, including Mauch's protest, the Phillies took a 5-4 lead in the eighth on Roy Sievers' sacrifice fly. The Pirates tied it in their half of the inning on a homer by Willie Stargell, then won in the ninth on a walk to Jim Pagarioni and singles by Stargell and Dick Schofield.

Curt Simmons, now 6-3, scored the Cardinal run in the fifth inning on Curt Flood's double and had the Giants blanked on five hits until the eighth. Cap Peterson then led off with a walk, and waited two outs before Mays connected. Mays' shot was touched by a fan in the stands and the ball was knocked back onto the field but the umpires waved him home.

The Dodgers and Reds were scoreless until the 12th. The Dodgers scored two against Cincinnati starter Jim Maloney on his throwing error and a run-producing single by Tommy Davis. The Reds then tied the score in their half on run-scoring singles by Leo Cardenas and Johnny Edwards. It stayed that way until the 12:50 a.m. local curfew time ruled a halt.

Fox' bunt with the bases loaded and the score tied 1-1 in the eighth scored John Bateman with the tie-breaker for the Colts and tagged Warren Spahn, now 4-4, with the defeat. Mike White's single accounted for the other two runs. Hal Woodeschick, who hasn't been scored on in his last 10 relief appearances, preserved the victory for Ken Johnson, 5-4.

The Cubs managed only two hits off Gaen Cisco and Larry Bearnarth, but scored in the first on Lou Brock's double, his steal of third and an infield out. Williams' homer in the sixth gave Jackson, 6-4, additional working room.

The A's scored three unearned runs on the four White Sox errors and that was more than enough. Orlando Pena benefited from the runs and brought his record to 6-3 with John Wyatt's relief help. Pizarro now is 5-1.

Poorer Golfers
Among Leaders
At Indianapolis

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A glance at the bank books of the leading contenders in the $70,000 Speedway Open Golf Tournament leads you to believe the war on poverty has advanced even to the PGA front.

While most of the big-money boys fight for par today just to avoid the cut after the third round, their poorer brethren—headed by George Bayer—are edged toward the $12,000 top prize in this fifth-richest sponsored meet on the current tour.

Bayer's last big payday came in 1960 when he won the St. Petersburg Open, and you can take it from him—that's too long between visits to your banker.

Now playing out of Incline Village, Nev., Bayer is ranked 48th on this season's money list with $5,275—no petty cash, but only a shade of Jack Nicklaus' earnings of $48,035.

At the halfway stop, Bayer was two strokes up on the field with a nine-under-par 133 while leading cash collector Nicklaus was buried with a 141, in an 11-way tie for 42nd place.

Of the four pros knotted in second at 135, only two are among the top 50 in winnings—Bob Rosburg in 26th with $11,295 and Kel Nagle in 36th $6,787. The others, rookie George Archer, the first-round leader, and Dean Refram, have had very few paychecks this season, but both hope to correct that oversight this weekend.

Bayer, among the last to finish Thursday, said trying to concentrate on a golf game while listening to two hours of carburetion tests by 33 race cars "is a rather unique experience—my ears are still ringing."

The cars went through the roaring run in preparation for Saturday's 48th 500 mile race. The tourney will be suspended Memorial Day and will conclude Sunday.

Nicklaus was critical of the PGA for going along with the one-day suspension idea and said he would not return for the tourney in the future if it continues to be played "under these conditions."

The field was trimmed to 94 pros and 10 amateurs for today's round, with Tony Lema, former PGA champion Jerry Barber and veterans Al Besse-link and Dutch Harrison out.

Mike Souchak, who could have stayed alive when his 145 matched the cutoff, withdrew with the sponsors' permission. He won last weekend's Memphis Open.

The top 60 and ties will compete in the final round.

Largest Crowd May Watch 500 Racing Classic

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Scot Jimmy Clark, world road-racing champion, will charge across the starting time of the 48th Indianapolis 500-mile auto race Saturday, determined to break a string of American victories going back to Howard Wilcox in 1919.

His effort may bring out the biggest paying crowd ever drawn by an American sporting event, upwards of 250,000.

Italian Dario Resta, in a French Peugeot, was the last foreign winner in 1916 before World War I closed the old 2 1/2-mile racing oval for two years. The foreign factory teams never came back in force.

Clark smashed qualifying records in a new British-American hybrid car, a dagger-slim green Lotus built by Colin Chapman of London and powered by a new Ford special racing engine mounted over the back wheels. It's a much improved version of the car in which Clark finished a close second to Parnelli Jones last year.

Ford, in the biggest corporate effort to win the race in modern times, provided the new overhead cam engine to seven of the cars starting Saturday. Only Ford engineers have been permitted to touch the screaming beauties.

Rodger Ward, twice winner of the 500 and no worse than fourth in the last five Memorial Day classics, may have the biggest challenge to the three Lotus-Fords in a rear-engine Ford built by A. J. Watson, creator of six 500 winning cars, including Jones' 1963 Agajanian Special.

Ward was third-fastest qualifier and will share the front row at the start with Clark and Bobby Marshman, who reached 160 m.p.h. in practice with a '63 Lotus powered by one of the new Ford engines.

Jones had to settle for the second row in his aging Watson roadster. He had an alternate new rear-engine car, but it had bugs and was parked for this year.

Two other former winners in the field are A. J. Foyt, defending U.S. Auto Club big-car champion, and Troy Ruttman, the youngest winner in 500 history when he took the 1952 event at the age of 22. Foyt will be the No. 5 starter and Ruttman No. 18. Both will drive conventional Offy roadsters.

Ward will be starting for the 14th straight year, at the age of 43. Eddie Johnson, 45, will start for the 11th time in another Thompson-Ford.

Walt Hansen of Bedminster, N.J., one of seven first-time starters, will be one of the senior drivers at 44. A noted sports car racer, he is rated a genuine contender in a new Hufaker rear-engine Offy owned by Kjell Ovale, San Francisco sportsman.

There will be nationwide television of the long, noisy search for the first time but it will be on closed circuit to about 175 theaters and arenas.

The speedway management reported record advance sales, which it never discloses. There are 155,000 seats in the mammoth grandstands and infield bleachers, and almost as many more speed fans swarm through the 537-acre grounds and sit on parked autos and trucks.

GLASGOW, Scotland — Terry Downes, 168, Britain, outpointed Ed Zaremba, 173, Jackson, Mich., 10. Chick Calderwood, 175, Scotland, stopped Allan Harmon, 173 1/2, Miami, 6.

BOLOGNA, Italy—Nine Benvenuti, 160, Italy, stopped Jimmy Beecham, 157, Miami, Fla., 2.

Los Angeles — Raul Rojas, 126 1/2, San Pedro, Calif., outpointed Eloy Sanchez, 127 1/2, 10.

Boise, Idaho—Bill McMurray, Sacramento, Calif., and Elmer Rush, San Francisco, heavyweights, drew, 10.

For Kansas City slugger Rocky Colavito, the grass has not only become greener, but the A's green uniforms apparently also are to his liking.

Going into Thursday night's game, Colavito had hit 12 homers and batted in 29 runs.

Don Mossi, considered all washed up and waived by the Tigers during spring training, recorded his first victory of the season last Sunday in a two-inning relief job for the Chicago White Sox.

Another lefty, Willie Smith, has a so-so 1-2 record with the Los Angeles Angels. But his earned run average—0.90—may have some of the Tigers brass scratching their heads.

Smith went to the Angels in exchange for Julio Uvarro, whose ERA is 6.30.

Another former Tiger hitting his stride and winning big with another club is pitcher Bob Bruce. Bruce, 5-10, in three seasons (1959-61) with Detroit, boasts a 6-1 record for the Houston Colts. He had a combined record of 15-18 in two previous years with the Colt .45s.

The Detroit front office, meanwhile, could well be wondering where the Tigers would be if it weren't for the victories recorded by the pitchers picked up in various trades.

New Tiger hurlers have recorded 10 of the 18 victories chalked up by the mound staff this season.

Dave Wickersham, who has six of them, was Manager Charlie Dressen's choice to open a four-game weekend series against the Chicago White Sox tonight. It will be the first meeting of the season between the two teams.

Ed Rakow and Larry Sherry have each picked up a pair of victories.

Left-hander Mickey Lolich tops the older Tigers with four victories in seven decisions.

Colorful Jack Little, U. P. Extension dairyman of Chatham, likes to use language vigorously. Here he is urging U. P. dairy farmers not to pasture their cows in woodlands.

Cows aren't lumberjacks!

"If cows had mouths four feet wide and could gallop through woods at 31 miles per hour, a farmer might be able to make woodland grazing pay. Otherwise it's a losing proposition. Grazing a woods will stop tree reproduction and reduce the annual yield of timber. Grazing will compact the soil and result in increased runoff, which increases the soil loss. Woodlots often contain poisonous plants which will kill cattle, cut milk production or reduce the quality."

Safety Urged Over Holiday

EAST LANSING (AP) — State Police Commissioner Joseph Childs has appealed to the public to help prevent both highway and water accidents over the Memorial Day weekend.

Traffic accidents, which have a higher hourly death rate in holiday periods, already have claimed more than 750 lives in the state so far this year, up more than 25 per cent from the same period last year, Childs said.

Travel in Michigan is expected to be about 23 per cent higher than normal over the weekend, Childs said.

Water accidents, Childs said, already have claimed 43 lives in the state, a toll not reached until June of last year.

Secretary of State James Hare, meanwhile, said the combination of the long weekend along with the current upward trend in auto accidents could result in a "worse carnage than our 24 deaths during the 1963 Memorial Day weekend."

"Every driver should exercise that extra measure of precaution and show good sense on the road," said Hare, who also is chairman of the State Safety Commission.

Hare offered a few tips for safe weekend driving among them:

—Leave your temper and emotions behind.

—Be a "defensive" driver, watch out for the other fellow.

—Make sure your car is in good operating condition.

—Do not drink or take tranquilizers or similar medicine when planning to drive.

—Slow down in heavy traffic, wait a few minutes, and perhaps save your life.

—Drive refreshed and stop often for coffee or a stretch, especially on freeways.

Funds Awaited For Fishermen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators and House members from the Great Lakes area were told Wednesday of new planning for the Great Lakes fishing industry.

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., said after the closing meeting that officials of the U. S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries outlined plans which would include aid to fishermen and commercial processors.

"The next problem is one of appropriations," Hart said.

He pointed out that $400,000 is authorized for spending in a bill signed by President Johnson May 20, but that no appropriations have been voted by Congress.

The Fishing Research and Development Act signed by the President contains the $400,000 authorization for the ailing Great Lakes industry.

Hart said plans, still in a tentative stage, for helping the industry were discussed by director Donald L. McKernan of the Commercial Fisheries Bureau and by members of his staff.

McKernan told the group that the plans have not yet been cleared by the Department of Interior.

Concerning money for the program, Hart said "we must move quickly and we must see that adequate appropriations are made available."

He said provisions of the new act be of substantial help to fishermen and processors, and that this was the general reaction of senators and House members at the meeting.

Hart, who arranged the session, said he has written to the President and the Budget Bureau urging support of appropriations for the Great Lakes fishing industry.

Anchor Aweigh With Lots Of Tackle Aboard

CEDAR RIVER—A huge old anchor off a stone barge is on display in this Menominee County community.

It was pulled from the Cedar River harbor, where it had rested for about 40 years, by Greg Saunders, 17, a licensed diver, with the assistance of a Marinette, Wis., wrecker service.

Many attempts were made during the last 20 years to raise the anchor, but each failed because of lack of power. The first attempt by Saunders broke the wrecking service cable—which had a rated pull of 75 tons—but the second was successful. Pulled up with the anchor was a 300 foot anchor chain of double welded six inch links.

The anchor was on a stone barge which broke amidship and sank in 20 feet of water in the 1920's, became visible this year because of low water. When brought ashore the anchor and chain were covered with sinkers, spoons, hooks and other tackle lost by fishermen.

Commission Sets Final Tax Rates

Final tax rates for Delta County, the schools, and the townships were set by the County Tax Allocation Commission in meeting at the Court House last night.

There was no change from the tentative allocations previously established, although a representative of the Escanaba Area Public Schools protested the cut to Area Schools, and individuals of Bark River Township said they would appeal from a total rate in excess of 15 mills.

Dr. William Hemes, president of the Escanaba Area Public Schools board of education, told the Allocation Commission that he "failed to see the logic of an increase in millage for one unit of government, the county, to meet a deficit, which will increase the deficit of another unit of government, the schools."

He directed attention to the higher county millage in Delta than in Menominee. Delta County's millage is 1 mill higher than Menominee. This higher millage represents about $73,000—which is Delta County's Court House building debt for the coming year, a new building on which the people of the county never had a chance to vote, he said.

Dr. Hemes added that with both the County and the Schools needing funds, a proportionate allocation based on budget need, rather than an allocation that cut the Schools and gave more to the County, would have been equitable.

The Commission made no change in the tentative rate, which was adopted as the final allocation as follows:

County rate 7.15 mills throughout the county.

For the Escanaba Area school district: Schools 7.3 mills; Cornell and Ford River 48 mill; Intermediate school district .07 mill. Because Wells Township and the City of Escanaba did not receive millage such as requested by Cornell and Ford River Townships, 48 mills will go uncollected in Escanaba and Wells and the school district will have that much less revenue.

The total rate in Escanaba and Wells will be 14.5 mills, while it will be the full 15 mills in the other two townships composing the Area School District.

The Gladstone schools will receive 7.78 mills, the county 7.15 mills, and the intermediate school district .07.

Rapid River School district composed of Ensign, Bay de Noc and Masonville townships, will levy 7.03 for the schools, 7.15 for the county, .75 for the townships, and .07 for the intermediate school district.

Because there are no township millage requests in Escanaba Township, Fairbanks, Maple Ridge and Nahma, the county there will get 7.15 and the schools 7.78.

The over-15-mills total rate will apply to Bark River Township, whose school district is a part of the Bark River-Harris district, with Harris in the adjoining Menominee County. The Tax Allocation Commission said that under the new state constitution the school rate must be allocated on the basis of the larger unit in the school district—thus Bark River Township taxpayers must pay a total of 15.72 mills.

Bark River Township individuals protested that the levy exceeds the 15-mill tax limitation law and said they will appeal the allocation to the state tax commission.

President Wants Catholic Degree, Mrs. Elly Claims

GREENWICH, Conn. (AP) — Mrs. Elly Peterson, a Republican national official from Michigan, says President Johnson asked a Catholic university in the East to give him an honorary degree so he can win favor with Catholic voters.

She did not identify the university.

Mrs. Peterson, of Charlotte, is assistant to GOP National Chairman William E. Miller. She also is a candidate for the Republican senatorial nomination in Michigan.

She made the assertion during a talk before the Fairfield County Republican Women's Clubs Association Thursday.

In New York City, where President Johnson is making a series of speeches, White House Press Secretary George Reedy declined comment.

Frost Reported In Some Areas

By The Associated Press

Unseasonably cool weather covered broad areas of the nation today from New England to the Plateau region with some of the chilly air dripping into parts of the Southland.

It was freezing in parts of the northern Midwest and temperatures in the 30s and 40s were general in the North Central region, northern Maine and northern New York State. Frost was indicated in sections of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan and in the lowlands of Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The dome of the cold air which dropped temperatures far below seasonal levels was centered in north-central Canada and fairly cool weather appeared likely for the weekend.

Temperatures were near normal in the Pacific Coast region and the Southwest region.

Jack Ruby Has Outburst In Jail

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Jack Ruby received a superficial cut on his face Thursday when he hurled a cuspidor against a light bulb in his County Jail cell. Sheriff Bill Decker described the wound as "very minor."

Decker said the condemned slayer deliberately broke his eye glasses before shattering the bulb.

"He threw a tizzy, but we got him quieted down and he's doing all right now," the sheriff said. Decker said deputies ordered Ruby to stay in his bunk after the outburst at 4:45 a. m.

Defense lawyers contend Ruby has become insane since a jury ruled he should die for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, accused of assassinating President John F. Kennedy here.

Approval Given K12 School Bill

LANSING (AP) — A revised version of the so-called K - 12 school bill was passed by the Senate Thursday and sent to Gov. George W. Romney for signature.

The Senate gave in to House amendments, 19-11, in the measure which lays the groundwork for reorganizing Michigan's school districts in such a way that each one offers kindergarten - through - 12th grade education.

The bill is the latest version of long - sought legislation — which has run into strong opposition from rural school interests.

It provides for creation of 18-member study committees in each of Michigan's intermediate school districts — which roughly follow county lines.

Within a year, each of the committees is to come up with a plan for reorganizing the districts in its area to eliminate those which do not offer the curriculum. Their recommendations would be subject to approval by local voters.

The bill includes a provision that the vote be conducted on a "unit" basis, in which the overall majority vote cast in all districts would determine the outcome, or on a "separate" basis in which a majority of voters in each district to be combined would have to approve.

The bill was sponsored by Sen. Thomas Schweigert, R - Petoskey.

Negro Political Party Formed; First In State

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's first Negro political party was certified by the Board of State Canvassers Thursday. Also certified by the board for the Nov. 3 general election ballot was the Socialist Workers Party.

Certification of the Socialist Labor Party, was held up pending an attorney general's ruling on a technical question involving the filing of papers.

The Rev. Albert Cleage Jr., of Detroit, state chairman of the Freedom Now Party, said an all Negro slate will be named at a party convention — probably some time in September. The party gathered 21,726 signatures on petitions — nearly 7,000 more than needed to gain a place on the ballot.

yards from the barn. The automatic barn cleaner opening through the wall of the barn was located in the immediate area where the older cow was stanchioned. It appeared probable that a skunk could easily have entered the barn during the night and bitten the two cows although no bite marks were found, said Dr. Vader.

Wild skunks usually travel at night and rarely on a sunlit day. This abnormal behavior makes it seem probable that this skunk was affected with rabies and has very likely died by this time, the veterinarians reported. "It is of course impossible to tell whether other animals were bitten," said Dr. Vader.

Infection By Bite

Rabies is almost invariably brought about by the bite of a rabid animal.

Rabies is a disease of all warm blood animals. Although the incidence of rabies is relatively low, it is one of the more serious diseases because of its incurability. The virus of rabies affects the nervous tissue and results in the early death of the animal.

Immunizing vaccines are available and widely used, particularly with dogs. (The City of Escanaba requires proof of vaccination before a dog license is issued). An immunization program, along with a stray dog control program has been successful in keeping the incidence of rabies low and also bringing outbreaks under early control.

Representatives of the Delta-Menominee Health Department and Michigan Department of Agriculture's Livestock Disease Control Division were to confer today with local veterinarians on arranging an immunization clinic for dogs in the Stephenson vicinity. A 30 day quarantine of all dogs may be ordered in the involved area and an intensified program of stray dog control will be instituted.

50 Cases In 1963

"Although there is no cause for undue fear, special precautionary measures are in order," said Dr. Vader.

"Parents are urged to inform their children not to pick up any stray animals, no matter how friendly they may appear. This also applies to wild animals such as squirrels and chipmunks. Wild animals affected with rabies often lose all fear of man.

"Owners of dogs are advised to confine their animals at home until the danger has passed. This is a necessary precaution for the protection of other animals and people."

There were 50 diagnosed cases of rabies in Michigan in 1963, none of them in the Upper Peninsula. There were 27 skunk, 9 bovine, 6 cat, 4 dog, 3 bat and one horse.
